YA SEE, IT HAPPENED THIS WAY . . . Arnold Woodford discusses an interesting fact about the Revolutionary War with Ryland Brown and Kenny Sims.

Every Mountain of Knowledge

COFFEE ANYONE? . . . Mr. Shufflebarger and Mr. Lee explain the plans for the program of evaluation for the next school year.

The unexplored frontier has always beckoned the daring and the brave. It has presented a challenge to be met and obstacles to be overcome in order to see what lay beyond. The conqueror, once he has reached his goal, gains new experiences which become a part of him.

Challenges are not always physical. Ideas, to some students, may be as difficult to conquer as is the mountain peak to the climber. To both, a barrier separates the explorer from the mysteries of the world just ahead.

Each student must realize his own boundaries, and he must take advantage of every opportunity to expand them.

At Liberty High School, the challenge is to "climb every mountain; ford every stream, and follow every rainbow". The fulfillment of this dream means the absorption of knowledge, the assumption of responsibility, and dedication to participation. These gains may be acquired through homework, in committee service and in team competition, and by exploring minds active in the classroom.

For Knowledge is a Stepping Stone

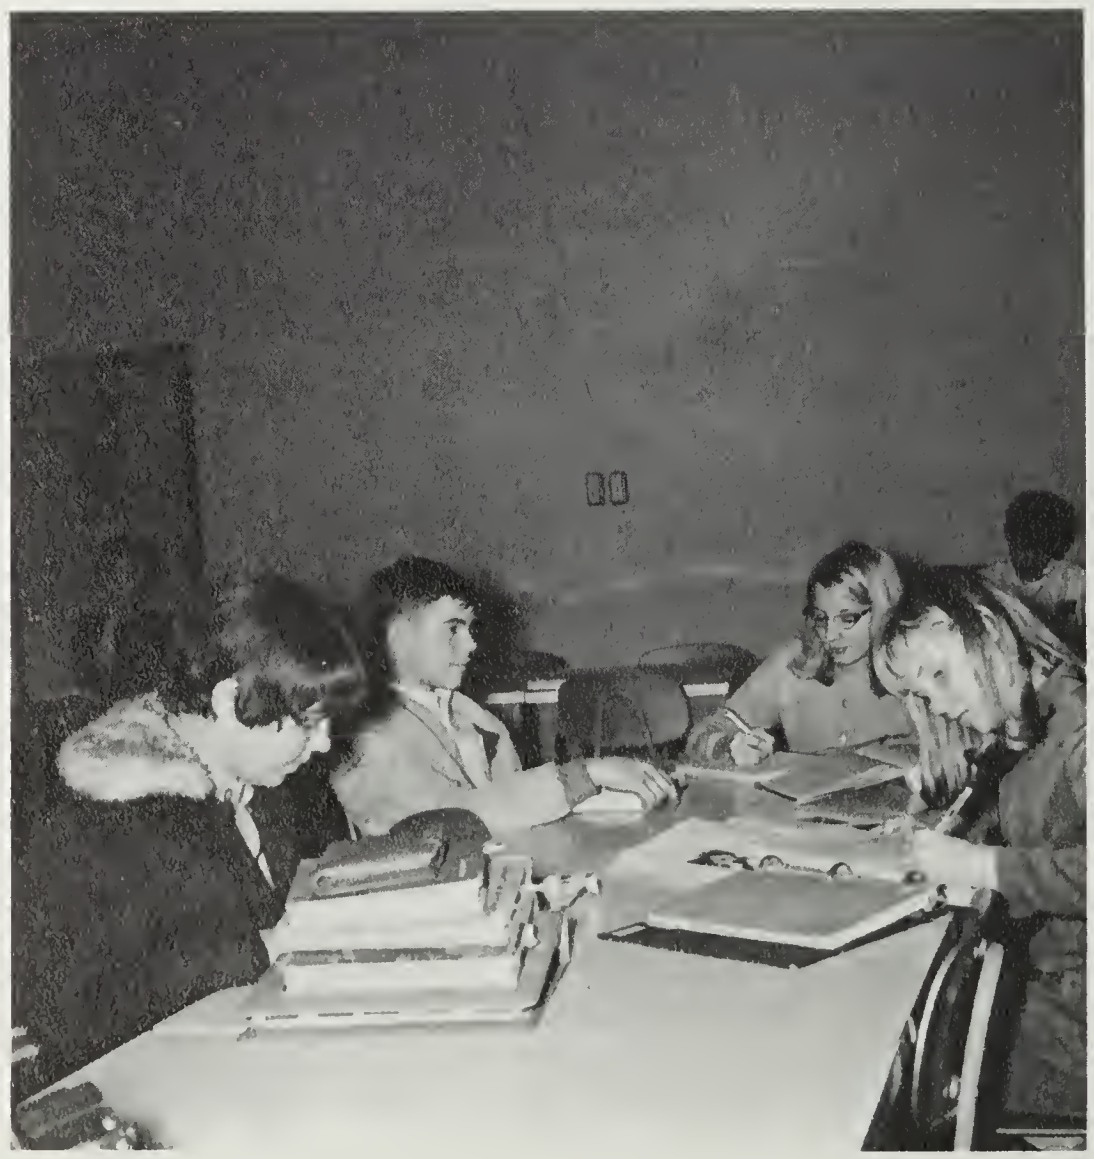

DON'T OPEN THOSE BOOKS! . . . Miss Magann gives instructions for the NEDT Tests to Ivan Green, Richard Obenchain, and Jimmy Anderson.

Liberty High School began its fourth term with an emphasis on achievement in every facet of school life. The administration and faculty experienced a year of self-evaluation in an effort to upgrade the total school program. Each department formulated philosophies and set up objectives. These reports are to be rated next year by an evaluation committee composed of school principals and other educators representing the State Board of Education.

Students in the classroom developed a growing respect for education. They viewed the future in light of the past and the ever-expanding ideals of the present. Whether in academic, business, or vocational curriculum, each student found at LHS a program designed to offer him a means of meeting life's challenge. The year's experience enabled students to better chart their courses and to more wisely plan for advancement toward the attainment of their goals.

UGH! ROPED AGAIN! . . . Bobby Burks and Judy Gardner reluctantly smile as their masters prepare to "wed" them during the Slave Day activities.

GEE WHIZ! SURROUNDED AGAIN! . . . Wanda Arthur, Willie Mitchell, Jane McGuire, and Teresa Thompson make good use of their fifth period study hall.

DO YOU MEAN THESE THINGS WILL REALLY STAY UP HERE! . . . Billy Gray, David Ferguson, Jack Foster, Jimmy Turpin, Becky Craghead, and Willie Douglas decorate the Christmas tree in the Senior High courtyard.

LET'S GET STARTED . . . Charles Wood, Bruce Abbott, Robin Nolen, Mike Coleman, Sally Markham, and Ann Giles collect materials to be used for the Junior-Senior Prom.

ALL RIGHT GANG, QUIT THE DAYDREAMING . . . Joyce Dudek, Sally Markham, Shirley Plunkett, Rhonda Austin, and Ronnie Rice patiently await the beginning of a SCA Council meeting.

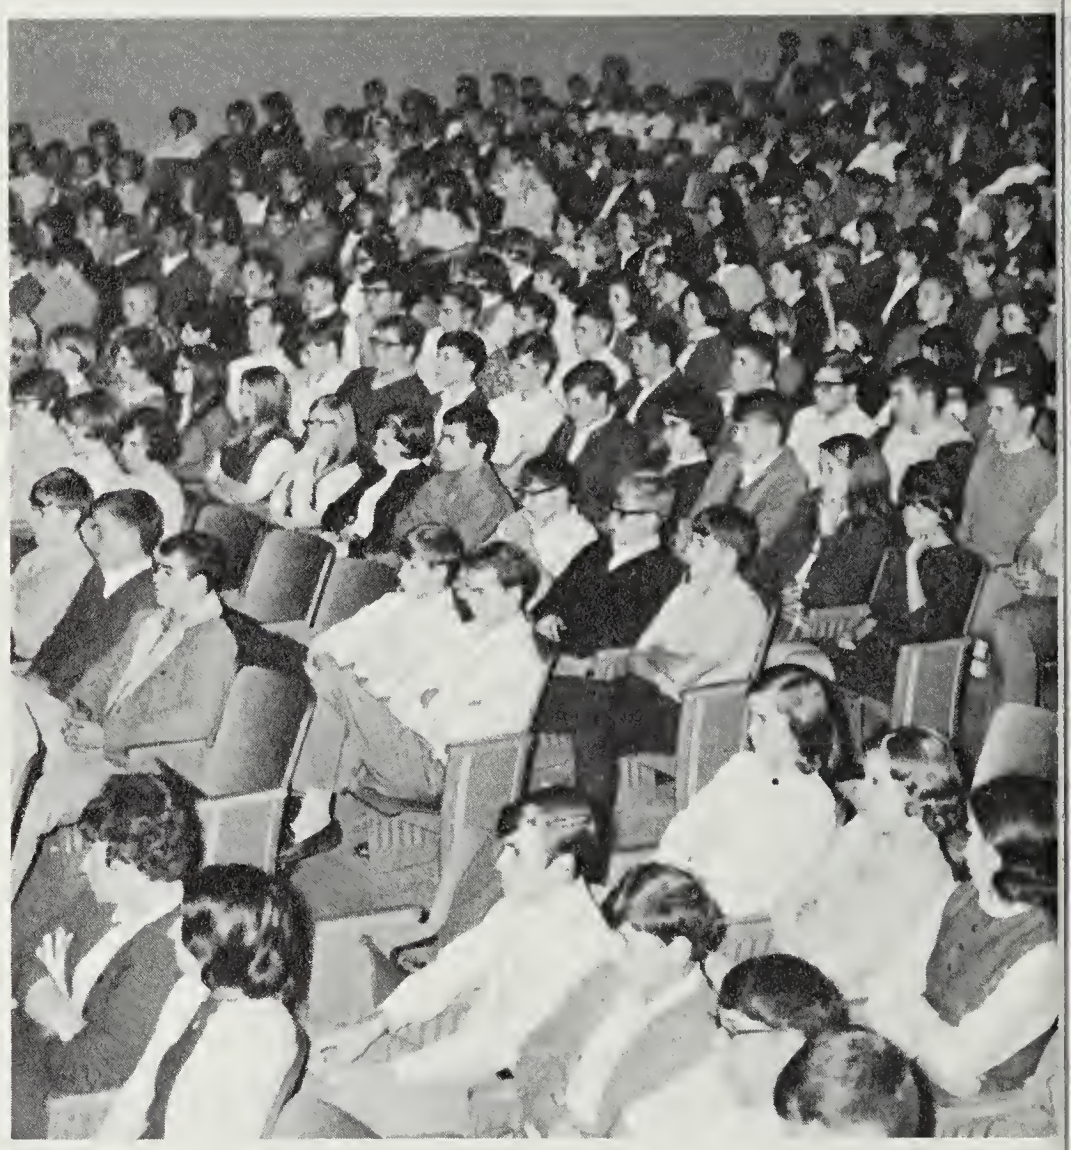

Ford Every Stream,

THE RUSHING STREAM OF LIFE . . . Each student should realize his capabilities and work toward a useful and successful life.

WHY ALL THE SOLEMN FACES? . . . Senior high students pay close attention to the musical assembly.

If one is to assume special duties and to direct others, it is necessary that he possess a strong sense of responsibility. It is equally desirable that those who follow accept the obligation of doing a job well. At Liberty, emphasis is placed upon stability as a requisite step toward maturity.

The delegation of certain duties to members of the student body proved beneficial both to the individual and to the administration. Student projects involving teamwork with faculty sponsors provided experiences for life's endeavors.

In school, as in life, democracy demands certain responses to regulations though some rules be unwritten. The average student observed specified principles, but the responsible student realized that tasks confronted him both in school and in the community. His approach to the solution of these problems reflected a philosophy gained by influences in his environment. His conduct in the classroom and in the community was a mark of his stature as a citizen and as a leader.

THE METRECAL FOR LUNCH BUNCH . . . Mrs. Tsoleas, Mrs. Harpine, Mrs. Woodford, Mr. Cox, Mr. Cutler, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Coleman, Miss Stoneman, Mrs. Shelton, and Mrs. Hamm enjoy a chat during the Senior High lunch period.

The student in his high school years met respect for his opinions and was recognized for his achievements. In this formative period, encouraged by counselors, administrators, and teachers to assume his share of responsibilities, he gained self-confidence and evolved an individuality.

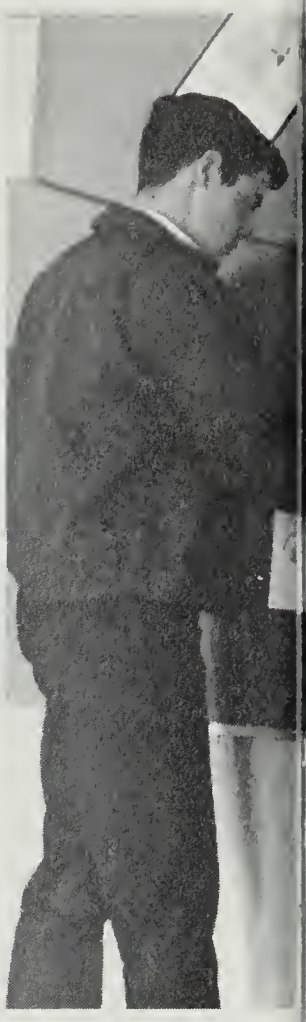

It was personal interest and self-evaluation as well as test scores and school records that helped him, with his advisors, to weigh values in choosing a college or career.

In the classroom the student learned to project his ideas in discussions and to defend his position in debates. In team competition he learned to esteem fair play and to value good sportsmanship. He learned the spirit of submission which is necessary in any group activity.

He began to be conscious of the dormant power which lay within himself as a person with a future of usefulness beyond the classroom.

From a timid, questioning freshman the individual had matured into a self-confident, purposeful young adult.

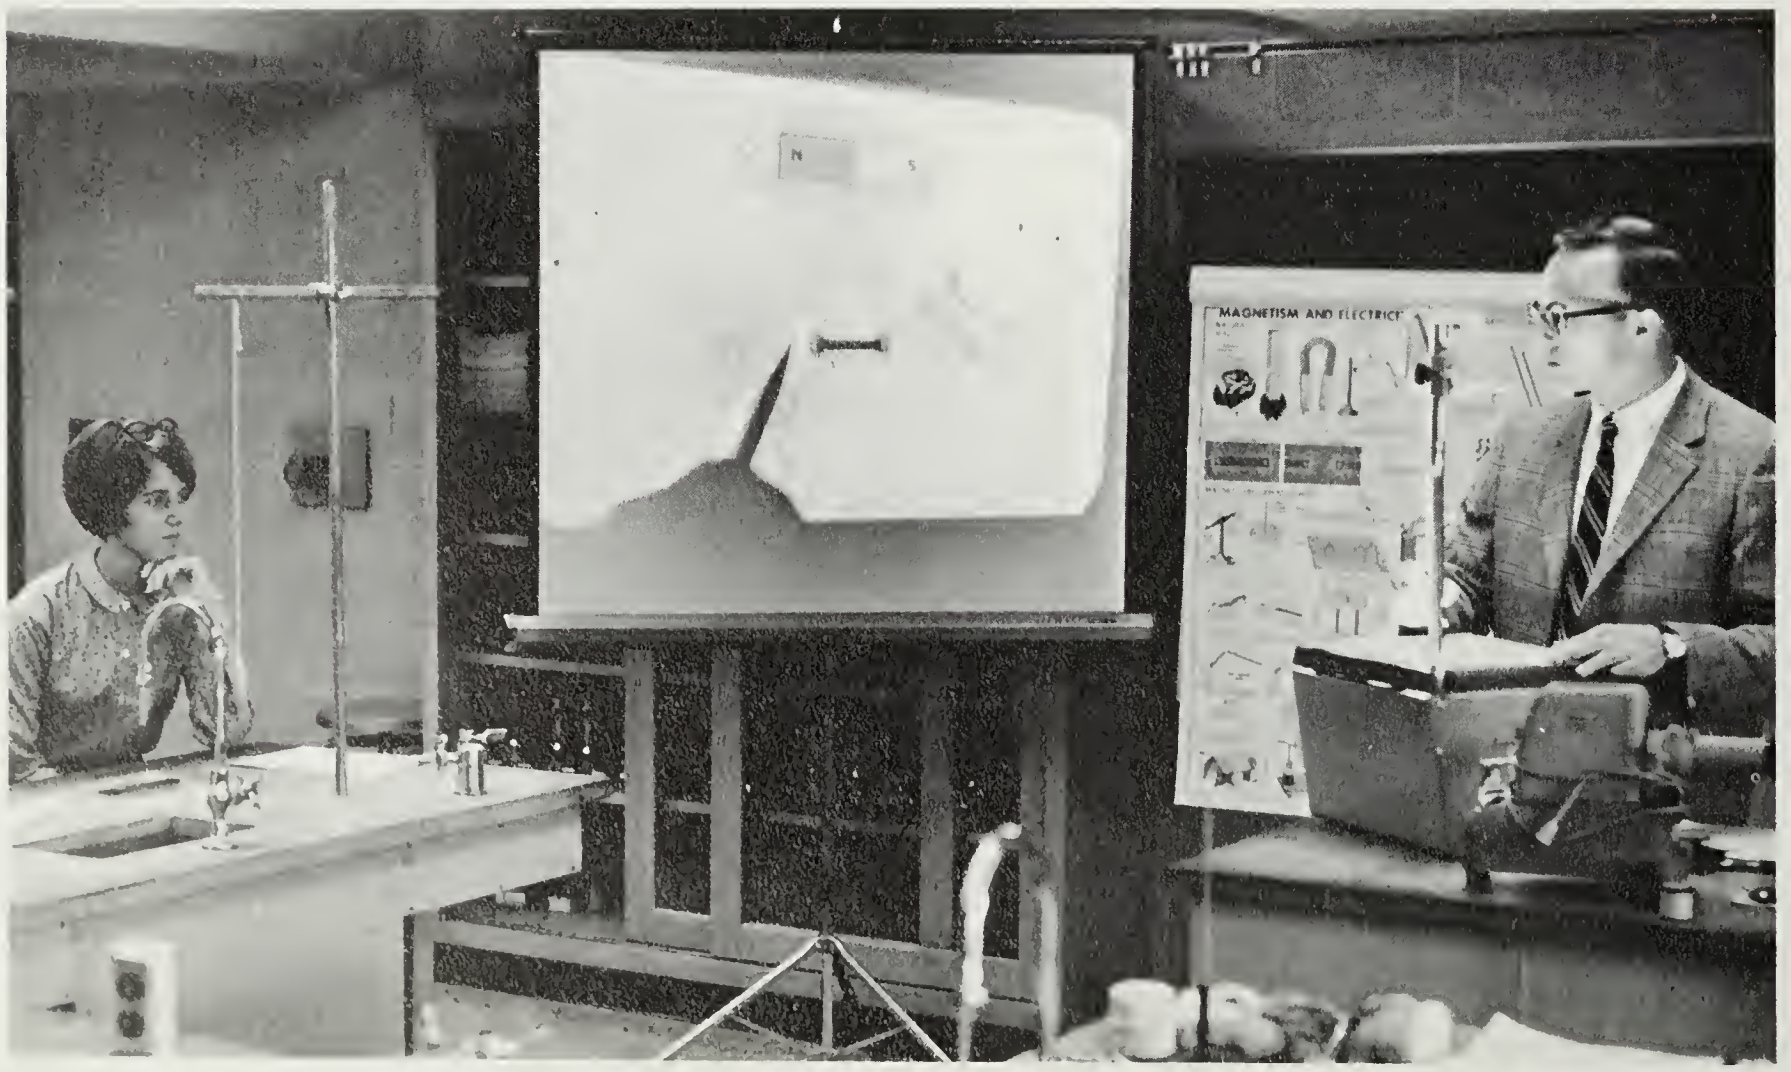

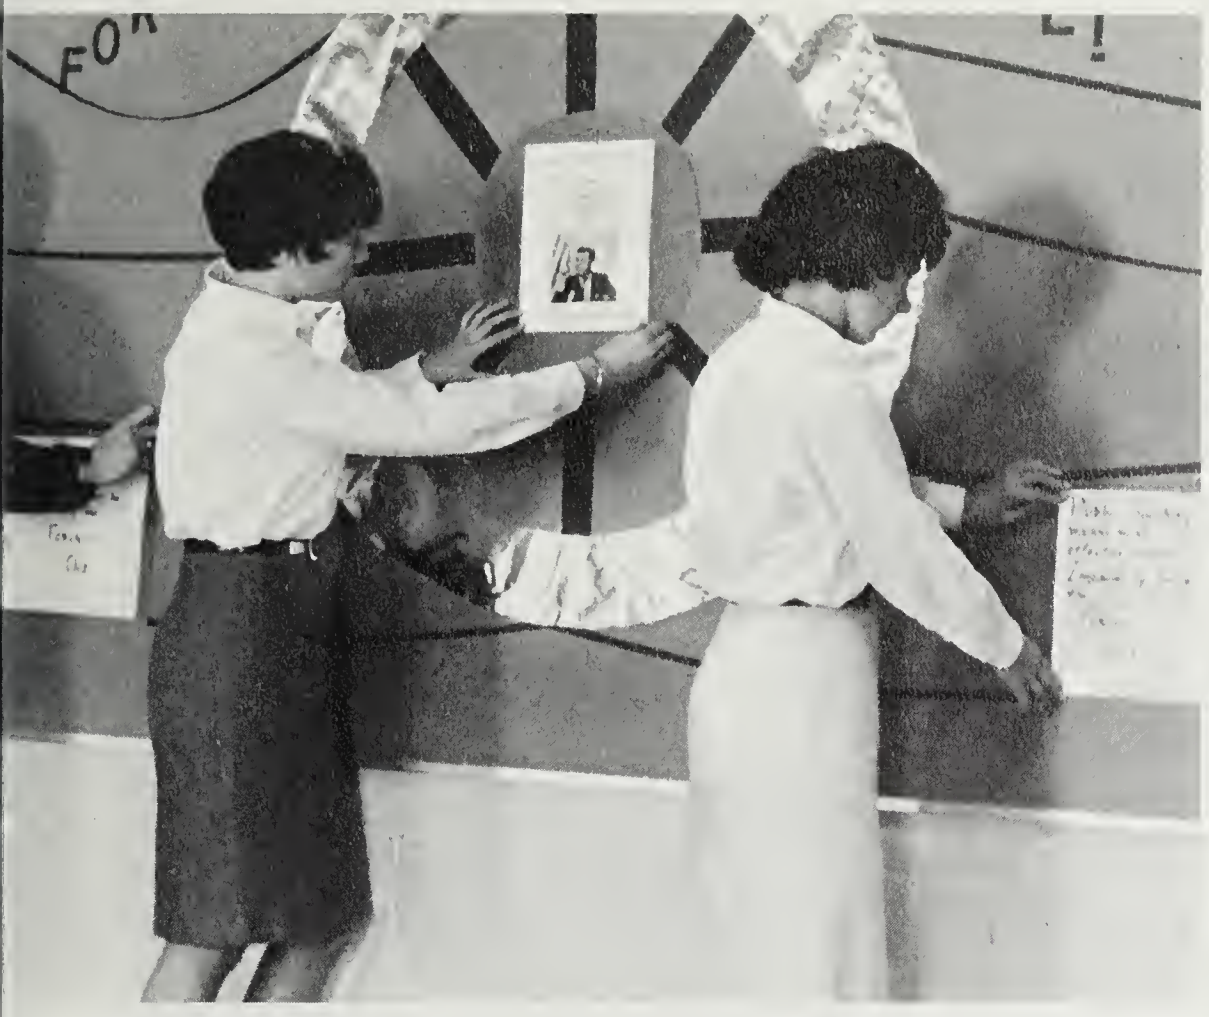

36-22-36 HIKE! . . . Quarterback Brenda Dudley shouts signals as her teammates Vicki Carson and Carla Zimmerman prepare to follow through on the play.

For Responsibility Is A Stepping Stone

HOW 'BOUT THAT! . . . Georgeanne Thaxton learns an interesting fact about magnetism from Mr. Caldwell.

LOOK WHO'S WORKING! . . . Jimmy Fitzpatrick, Shirley Plunkett, and Moira Fitzpatrick prepare the bulletin board for Forensics Week.

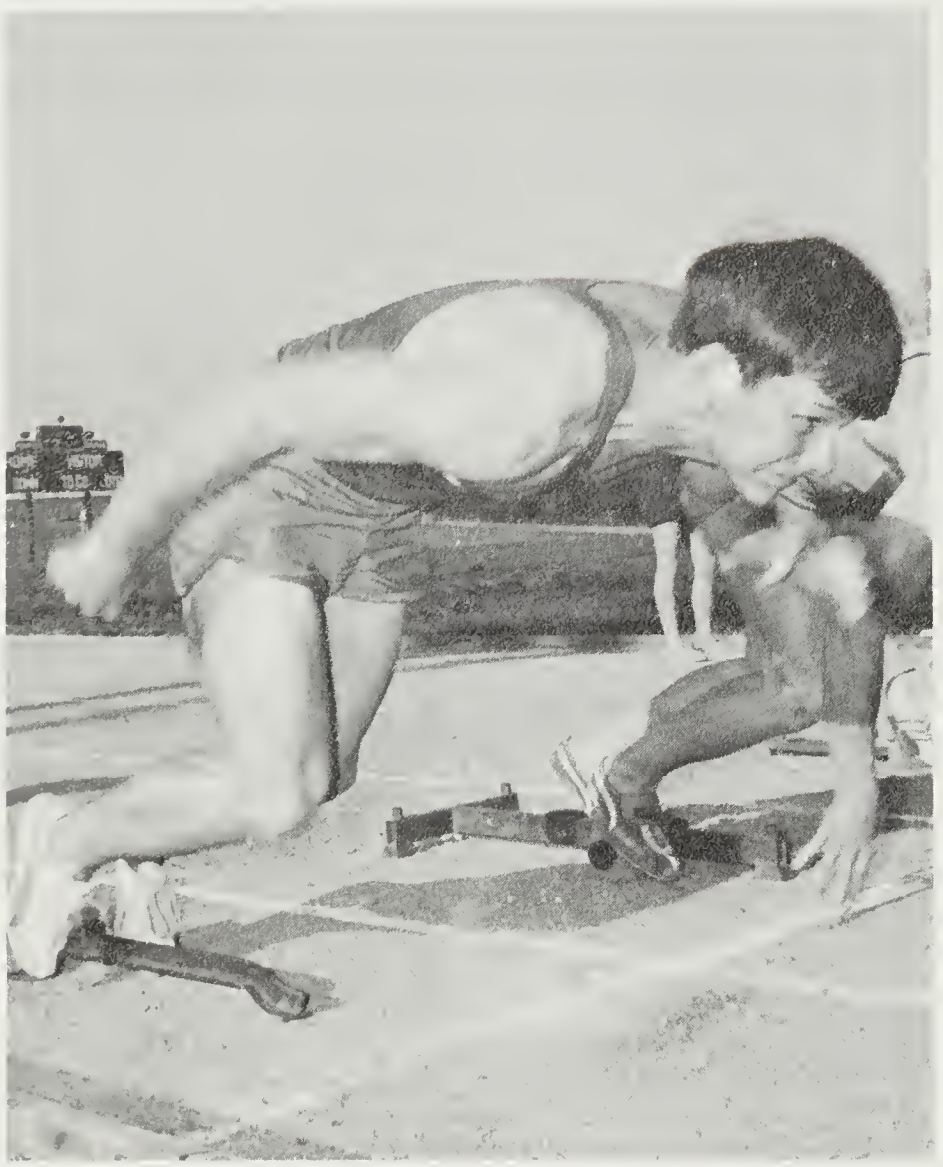

ALL FOR LIBERTY STAND UP & HOLLER! . . . Liberty fans support their team through their enthusiasm and spirit at the Homecoming Pep Rally.

to the Development of the Individual

THE PATH NOT TAKEN . . . Nan Darden searches as does each individual for the pathway to her goal.

Follow Every Rainbow,

CHOW TIME!! . . . Wayne Bailey gets off to a fast start in the 100 yard dash.

BEWARE! PANIC BUTTON! . . . Price Parker listens intently as Mr. Grant advises him in the use of the electric pipe cutter.

SOMEWHERE OVER THE RAINBOW . . . Over the rainbow in the future lies a treasure of golden opportunities to be discovered by each individual.

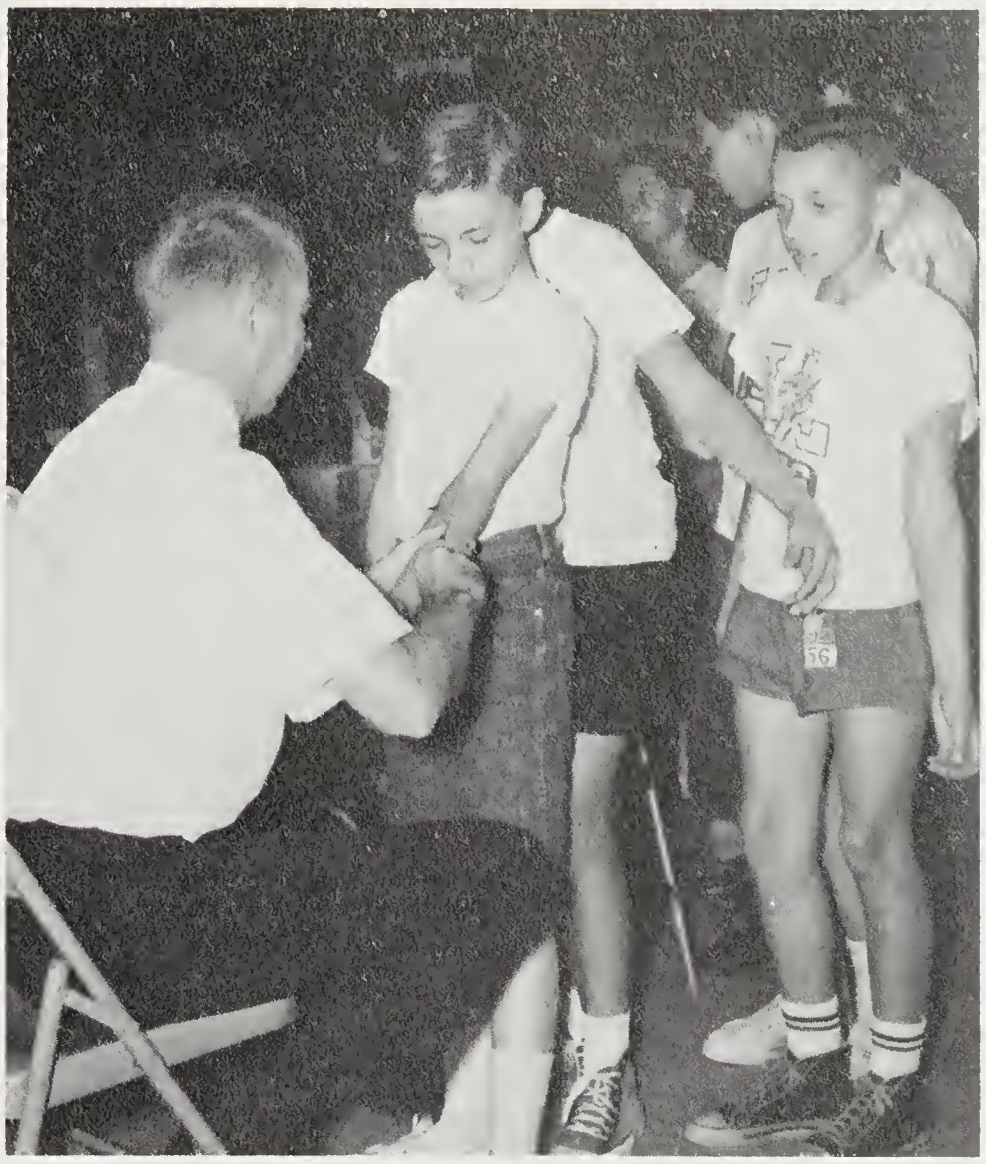

Every Rainbow of Participation

Participation in the academic, extra-curricular, and social programs at Liberty was an integral part of each student's life.

The members of the HERITAGE Staff commemorated the year's events through a pictorial and prosaic summary, while the SENTINEL provided opportunities for collecting and publishing current school happenings. The athletic teams drilled tirelessly and followed closely the directions of coaches in preparation for seasonal sports rivalry. Band members gave loyal support to the teams and entertained the students in assemblies. Included in the social life of the students were the sock hops, the club banquets, the Junior-Senior Prom, and the Senior Play.

Representatives from different student groups vied with other contestants at the state level. Members of the Junior class were delegates to Boys' State and Girls' State. Some students attended the SIPA conference; some took part in the Model General Assembly. The music department entered the competition for All State Chorus and All State Band.

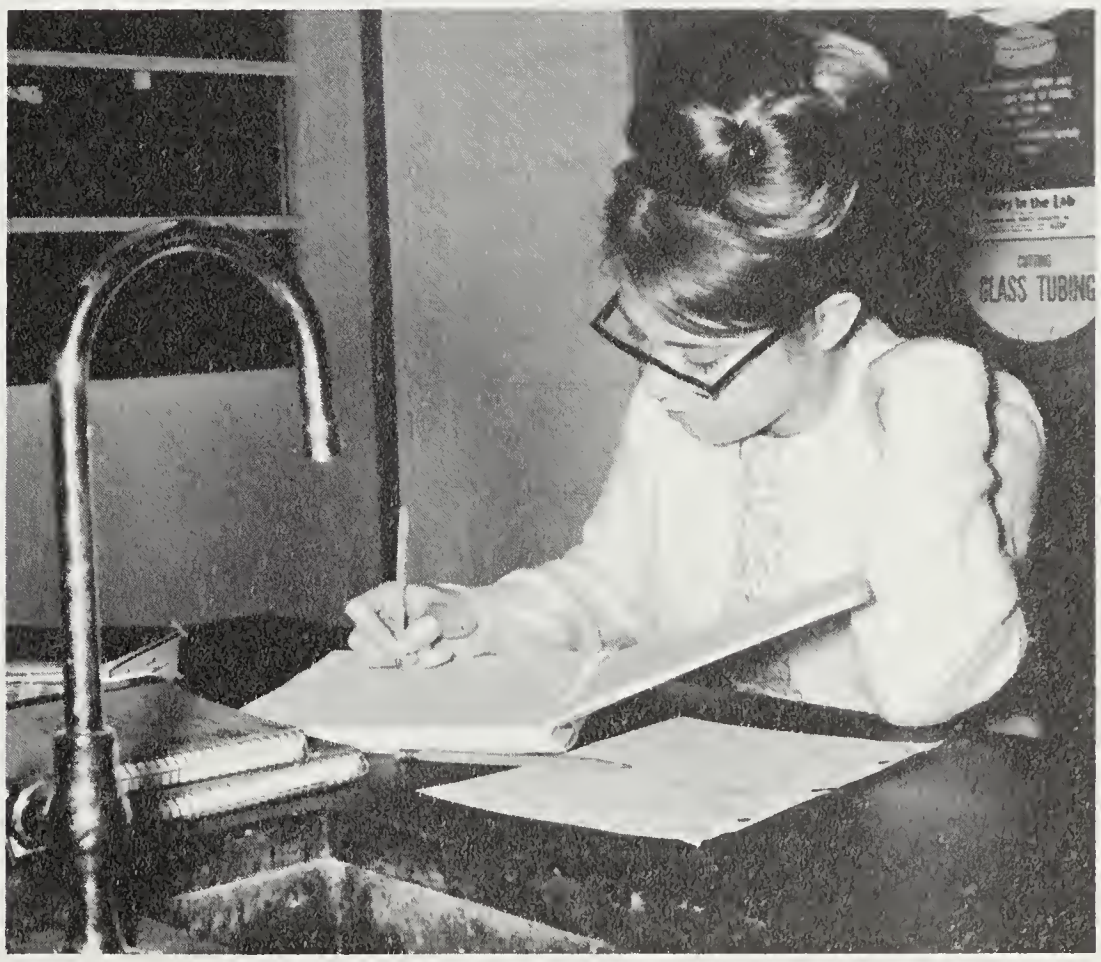

Thus the students, through lively participation during the year at LHS, met a further challenge and reached another stepping stone in self-development and school progress.

HEY! TAKE IT EASY! . . . A representative from the tuberculosis clinic gives Jimmy Harris and Jeff Martin their shots for TB.

NOW DON'T BE NERVOUS . . . Ricky Harper helps to adjust Mike Mehaffey's new band uniform.

WORKING HARD? . . . Dinx Jones diligently labors over her chemistry notes.

For Participation is the Experience Gained

The main purpose of any school is to meet the needs of the individual student. To achieve this aim, the faculty and administration of Liberty High School endeavored to create an atmosphere that lent itself readily to learning in each classroom and in each activity throughout the school. Students were encouraged to set high goals, the fulfillment of which would not end with the completion of high school, but continue into adulthood.

Active participation in school activities along with the many hours spent in the classroom helped students reach the summit of their high school careers. Entries in essay competition entailed months of study and research. Club work and the time and effort spent on publications—all of these served as learning experiences for the students.

Sports activities impressed upon both participants and the student body the meaning and worth of sportsmanship and self-discipline.

With the completion of each year, the students attained knowledge that would aid them in molding their characters and personalities. The months and years of work were rewarded as the Senior class marched down the aisle at graduation to receive their diplomas. Each Senior departed from Liberty with a sense of accomplishment and a feeling of eagerness and determination to make his future years a success.

SHOW THEM HOW DEBBIE! . . . Debbie Tomlin prepares to sink two points as teammates Bonnie Brandon, Donna Draper, Lynn Humphreys, Charlotte Gregory, and Diane Tomlin look on at the group.

Til You Find Your Dream

A PERFECT FIT . . . Gloria Abbott and Robert Ashwell prepare for their graduation exercises.

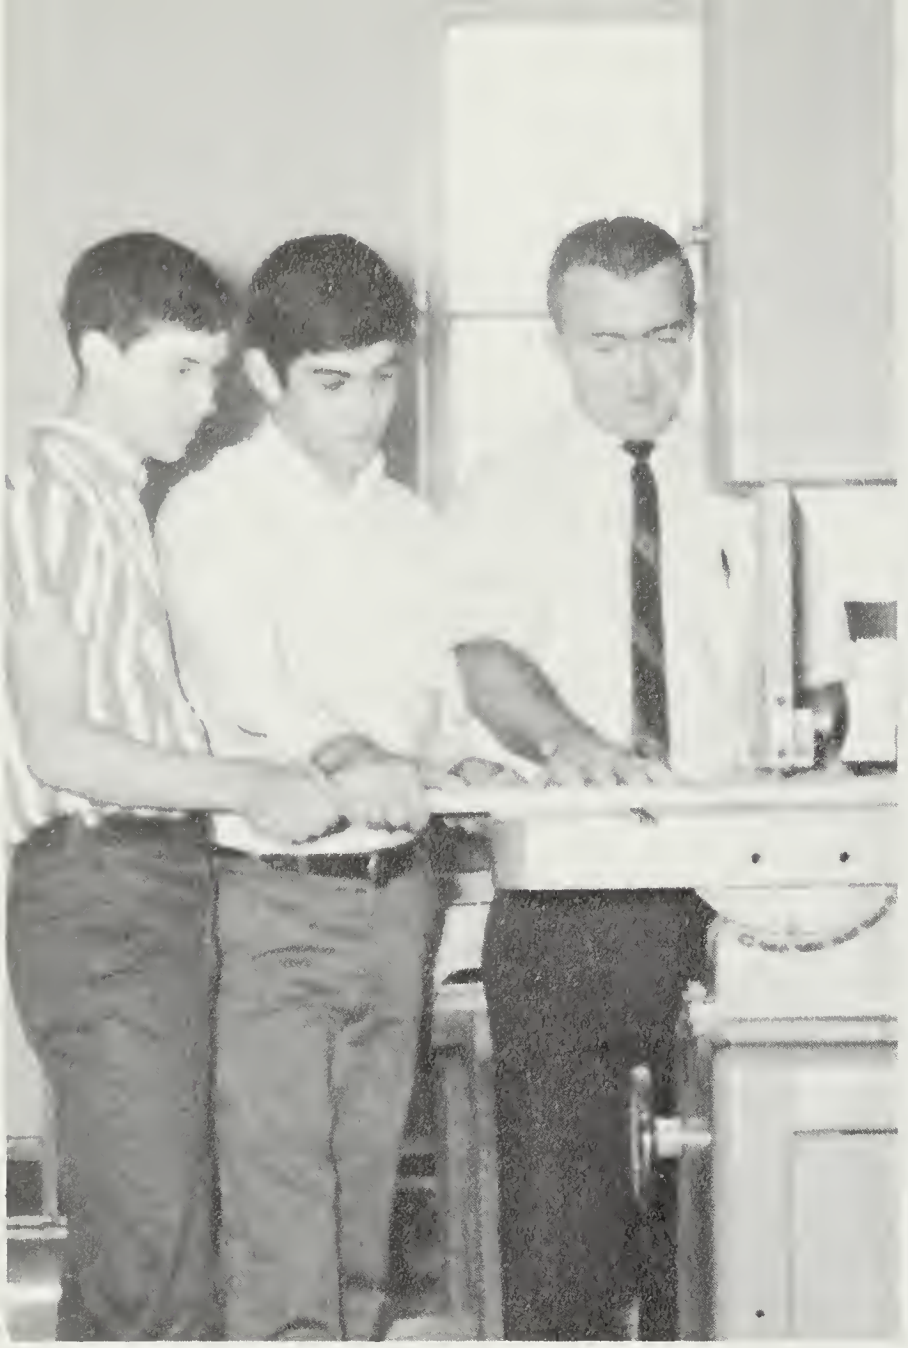

SO, YOU'RE GOING TO COLLEGE . . . Mr. Oglesby congratulates Sue Wilkerson and Martha Key on their acceptance to a college.

ARE YOU SURE THEY'RE GENUINE? . . . Brenda Rhodes, Cindy Allen, Kathleen Thomasson, and Nan Darden delightedly examine the newly arrived class rings.

"SMILE, YOU'RE ON CANDID CAMERA!" . . . Dana Carden is pleased to learn that she is the recipient of the DAR Good Citizen award.

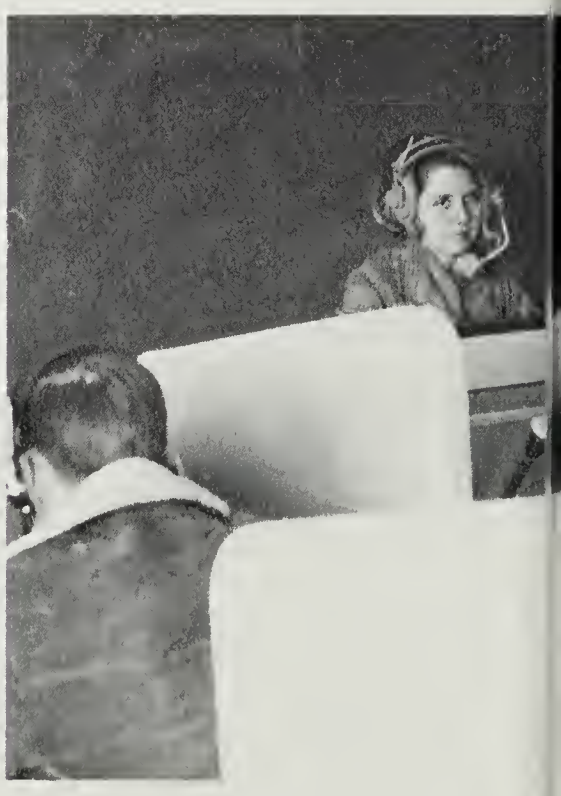

WATCH THOSE FINGERS! . . . Mr. Sherman demonstrates the use of the ban saw to Aubrey Neas and Thomas Ruff.

SKETCH IT IN RED . . . Faye Holland, Phyllis Reynolds, Susan Smith, Mariam Martin, and Kathy Hawkins work on a landscape sketch as Mrs. Overstreet stands by to give helpful suggestions.

AW, YOU'RE JOSHING . . . Miss Ahalt, Mrs. Harpine, and Mr. Carlson listen to Mr. Brown during their planning period as he tells them of an incident which happened during class.

OPERATOR 41 TO BOOTH 3 . . . Mrs. Arrington instructs Spanish students Dale Key, Donna Randazzo, Marie Lisa, Randall Ramsey, Tony Evans and Cindy Nester during lab session.

IS THAT THE RIGHT WORD? . . . Mrs. Duis and Mr. Peters discuss the proper form for an evaluation report.

A forward-looking staff of administrators and well qualified faculty undertook in their respective fields to provide an atmosphere for learning. Each department formulated a philosophy and established objectives for a sound educational system.

IS IT TRUE THAT BIC PENS WRITE THE FIRST TIME EVERY TIME? . . . Mr. Caldwell fills out a class admission slip.

IF I HAD A HAMMER! . . . Mr. Sherman and Mr. Caldwell unpack newly arrived supplies.

The administration, the center of Liberty's network of activities, carried out the school policies set for the county by the school board and by the superintendent, Forrest L. Frazier. The responsibility of the increased student enrollment, added to the regular official duties, demanded strict use of their time and energy.

Mr. Lee, principal; Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Sherman, assistant principals designed a curriculum which upheld the high standards of LHS.

Leading the school's self-evaluation program, the administrators served on various departmental committees. They studied the community environment, the occupations of alumni, and other data concerning Liberty High School. This information helped them to determine Liberty's responsibility in meeting the needs of a progressing community.

Self-Expression and Higher Learning

True student self-evaluation was the primary goal set by the English department. Every course included in this curriculum was designed to give the student a sharper insight into his present-day world and the world of the past. The graded English classes placed emphasis on the necessity of expression in the most perspective style possible and the importance of traditional and contemporary literature. The creative writing and advanced grammar and composition courses provided a concentrated analysis of the finer details concerning American writing, both in fiction and in the essay. In journalism the student became aware of the power of the press. He learned the precise but interesting style used in newspaper writing. Members of the public speaking class acquired fundamental skill in effective speech through research work and participation in the class. The English teachers showed interest in the individuality and achievements of each of their students by encouraging them to enter essay contests outside of the school. The original compositions written by the students were constructively criticized by fellow students and teachers. The short stories, personal experience writings, and research papers demonstrated the depth and accomplishment of the English department at LHS.

In an ever-changing world, an up-to-date study of science is essential in any school. Liberty's science department offered general and specialized courses. Students learned to understand, appreciate, use scientific methods and to collect, organize, and test facts.

The main objective in eighth grade science was to present general science to the visible, tangible world the student knows best. Science 9 introduced basic concepts in chemistry, physics, astronomy, earth science, and biology supported by introductory laboratory procedures.

In biology, the study of plant and animal life, students studied life cycles and developed an appreciation for the science of life. Also, the students began a study of dissection.

Chemistry emphasized laboratory procedures in enabling the student to understand the many physical and chemical changes involved in the universe.

Liberty students entered papers in N.A.S.A.; F.S.A.; V.J.A.S.; and Meade Contests.

For the third consecutive year, a Visiting Scientist Program was held at LHS.

Many students exhibited projects in the Bedford County Science Fair and the Regional Science Fair.

Two representatives from Liberty attended the J.S.H.S. at the University of Virginia for lectures and a tour of their lab department. Distinguished participation in the V.J.A.S. program made possible this recommendation.

Mathematics has become increasingly essential since the inception of the nuclear age. It is the basis for the sciences that control our nation's industry and military programs, and it provides a solid foundation for logic and reasoning.

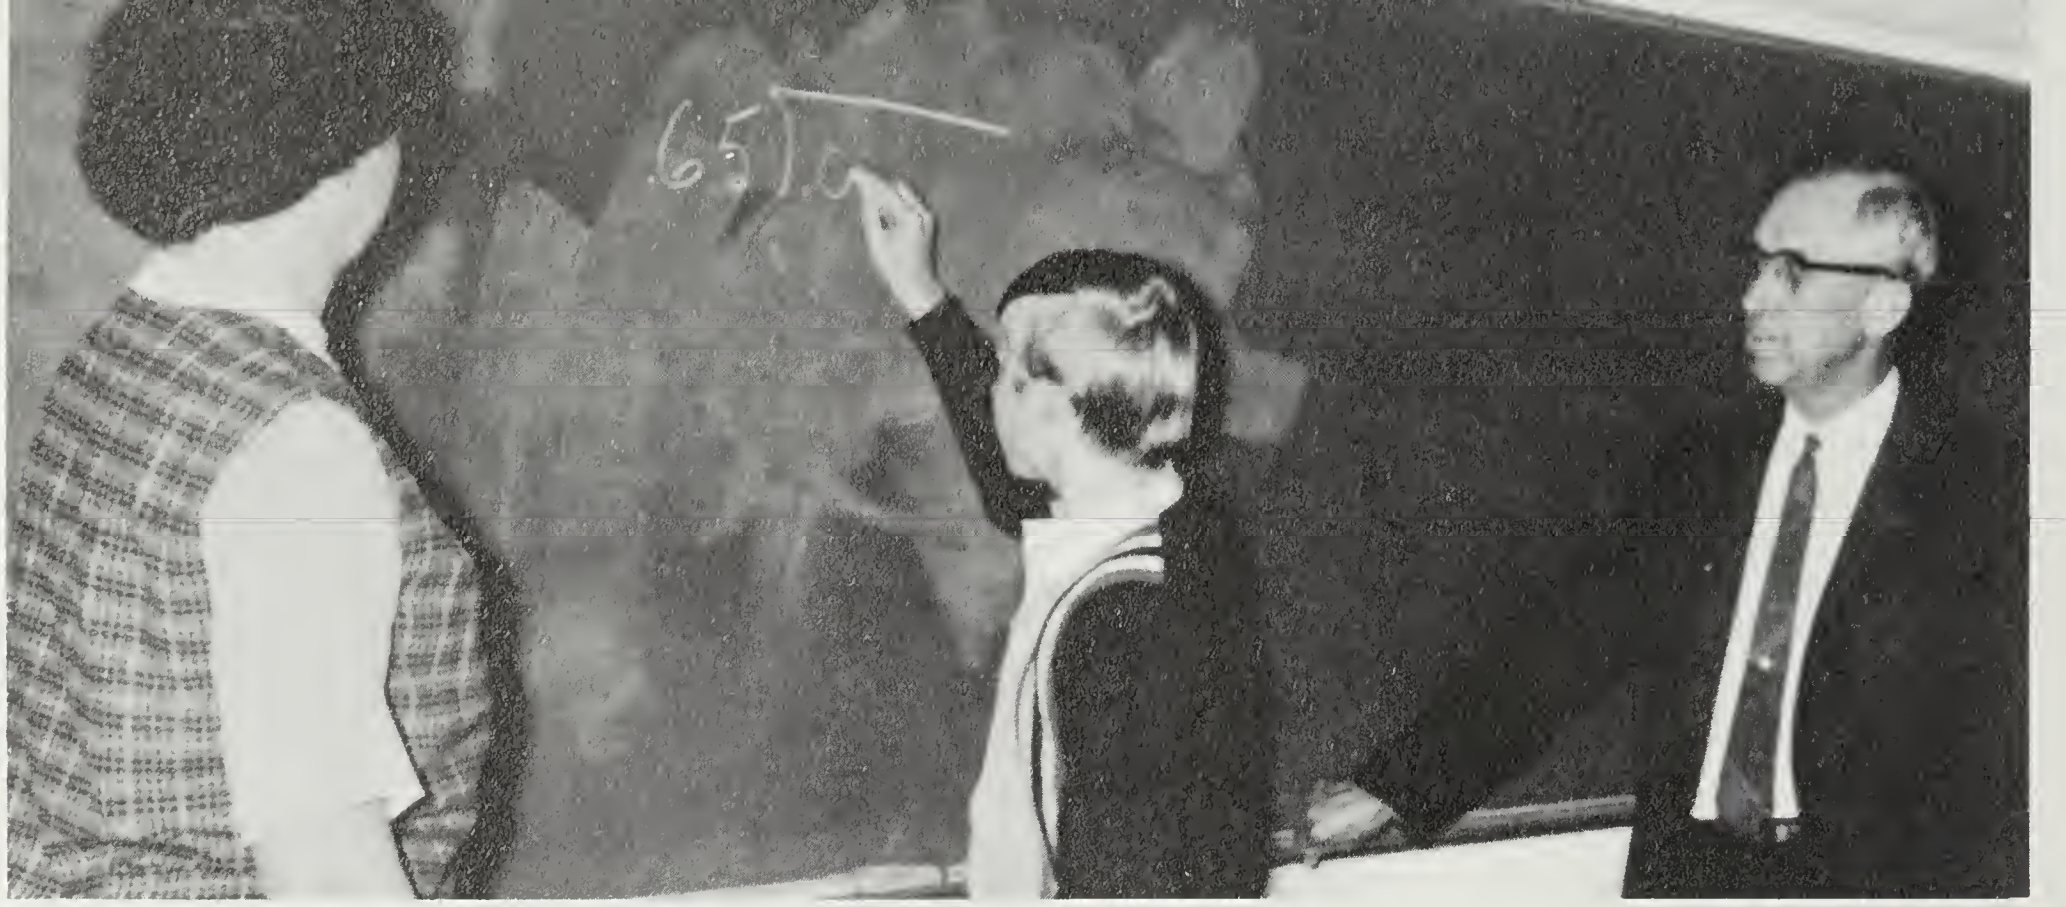

Two years of math were required in each curriculum. Students following a general or vocational plan of studies encountered basic everyday problems in eighth and ninth grade math and consumer math, while business math provided the commercial students with applicable material. College bound students chose math electives.

Algebra I and II introduced number and set relationships and unified solid-plane geometry encompassed the properties of angles, lines, and solid figures. Advanced students studied solid geometry-trigonometry and advanced algebra.

To prompt interest in mathematics, the department sponsored the Matharama in November, which included more than two hundred exhibits by math students.

Social Studies Traces the Development of

The world of tomorrow presents many problems to the present generation. Realizing this, the Social Studies Department constantly worked to prepare the student for the role he must play as a future citizen.

The department offered an introduction to the literature and the current thinking of society. This enabled the student to appreciate, evaluate, and participate more fully in the world in which he lives.

In history the student learned of the development of material culture. The tracing of social, economic, political, religious, and aesthetic institutions showed how the people of other times and places made their adjustments.

Geography was designed to give the student a survey of the physical resources in major world areas and the significance of environmental factors on economic conditions.

Government classes were a systematic study of political life in the modern world. The classes furnished the students with a background necessary to understand the principles involved in governmental relationship.

The economics classes offered the student a knowledge of economic research, investigation, and analysis; also, the interpretation of general monetary economics was combined with a study of basic principles of a modern economy.

Languages Help Students Adapt to Society

The Foreign Language Department offered courses in French, Latin, and Spanish. The instructors endeavored to do more than teach pronunciation and grammatical fundamentals. They also sought to bring alive the customs of the countries whose language they taught.

Latin students translated the works of Caesar, Cicero, Vergil, and other Roman writers. They copied the dress of the Romans, re-enacted a banquet scene, and observed Slave Day. Members from each of the Latin classes took part in the annual State Tournament held in the spring.

The French students followed a modern language procedure in which fluency and grammar were equally stressed. They attended L'Alliance Francasis meetings and entertained several native Frenchmen during the year. These visitors answered many of the questions asked by the students concerning the customs of France.

Students in the Spanish classes corresponded with pen-pals from the Latin-American countries. Through these letters they learned of the every-day life of the people living there. Spanish conversation in class and drills in grammar added to the students' knowledge of the language. Classes displayed in the hall posters depicting Spanish customs and the Spanish Club presented the play, "Una Nochebuena".

Business Education Trains Tomorrow's Leaders in Industry and Commerce

Practical courses in the business curriculum gave the students experience in the fields of industry and commerce.

Typewriting I involved the mastering of basic typewriting fundamentals and techniques. Personal typing was offered for the first time at Liberty High School. Students who did not plan to enter a business career were able to take one semester of typing and one of notehand, a practical application of shorthand. Typewriting II emphasized speed and accuracy.

Students in the shorthand classes studied theory and took dictation in the first year. The second year students improved their skill by taking and transcribing advanced dictation.

Bookkeeping students learned to keep accurate records through the use of practice sets. General Business introduced the student to the business world.

Office Practice developed proficiency in office procedures. The students worked with adding machines, calculators, dictaphones, duplicators, and typewriters.

The business students at LHS gained a background which prepared them for further education or for a good job following graduation.

Students Realize Their Cultural Heritage Through Fine Arts

The faculty of the Fine Arts department guided and encouraged individual interest in music, art, and library science.

The band and chorus learned the fundamentals of classical and contemporary music. Christmas and spring concerts revealed the musical talents of LHS students, and the band's performance at football games, in their bright new uniforms, enlivened school spirit. The music appreciation class studied the lives of famous composers and the basic principles of music composition.

Each section of art endeavored to express complete creativity in paintings, sculpture, and etchings and displayed its work in an art exhibit. Through continuous practice, art students became aware of the color and design surrounding their lives.

The library staff circulated books, periodicals, and audio-visual aids to supplement subject material. Cataloguing new books and filing magazines required the help of Mrs. Oglesby, the new library assistant. Miss Ruff held special classes in which she taught eighth graders and other students the proper use of the library facilities. Students visited the library often to read, to do research, or to browse and relax. Interesting displays made the library attractive during the year.

Liberty High realized the effect of a healthy physical condition on the mental performance and social behavior of its students; therefore, the physical education department planned an extensive program of training for the eighth, ninth, and tenth grades.

The team activities of soccer, hockey, volleyball, and basketball trained the girls in the fundamental procedures of each sport. The girls gained poise and co-ordination through modern dance steps. The tenth grade students chose their own music and developed solo dances, which they performed in the auditorium.

The boys' classes studied the rules and players' positions of football, soccer, and basketball. The ninth and tenth graders learned better techniques and the formation of plays in the same sports. They gained experience for making a school team or for appreciating any athletic event.

Tumbling and exercise on gymnastic equipment were a part of every physical education class.

The new method of team teaching was introduced to the entire department. Two teachers working with one class offered individual instruction. Students studied mental and physical health, first aid, and driver training. Class skits and discussion encouraged the participation of every student.

New equipment and student aides enabled the faculty to provide a complete program for the development of the physical fitness of LHS students.

Future homemakers were able to take five courses in home economics. Four of these were related studies offering specific instruction in home management, wardrobe and budget planning, nutrition, and child care. A general purpose class for seniors included a basic one course study of these subjects.

Students taking mechanical drawing learned to make accurate drawings of three-dimensional objects. Electronics students began detailed training for their careers. Drafting classes commuted to Susie Gibson High School each day to work with modern equipment in that field.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE NO MONEY? . . . Mrs. Wilson prepares for another lunchroom rush.

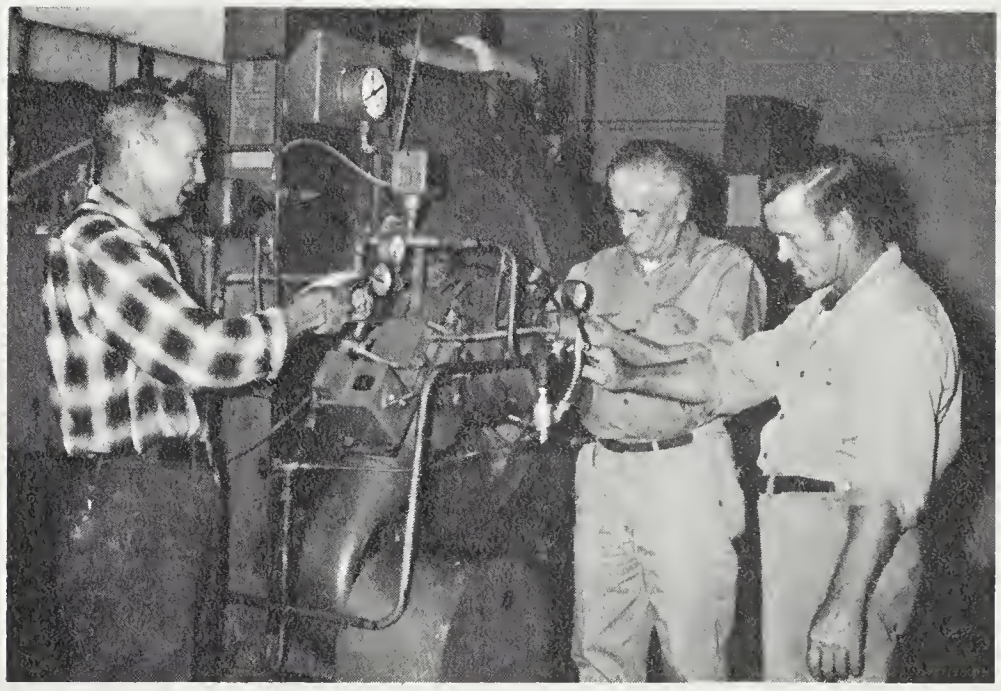

A vital segment of our school was its hard-working staff. Mrs. Nichols, Mrs. Long, and Mrs. Whitley, secretaries, successfully completed the daily office tasks such as typing bulletins, answering the telephone, and locating needed information. They also answered the many questions of patrons, students, and teachers of LHS who came into the office each day. Mrs. Nichols, secretary to Mr. Lee, took care of correspondence, filled out reports, kept the books, and filed records.

Mrs. Wilson, cafeteria manager, directed her staff in providing meals for the student body each day. The members of the cafeteria staff also prepared banquets for school-related functions.

The cleanliness of Liberty High campus was due to the active service of the maintenance staff. They maintained the regular upkeep of the school buildings and undertook odd jobs from repairing a dish washer to replacing a window pane.

The constant attention of the staff kept the entire school running smoothly throughout the year.

LET'S SEE, FROST SHOULD BE ABOUT HERE . . . Miss Ruff explains the use of the card catalog to Frannie Myers, an eighth grader.

Each year the Liberty student gained more knowledge of himself and the world around him through active participation and fellowship within his class. As he steadily advanced toward the culmination of his high school career, he surveyed his past years at LHS and made deliberate decisions about his future.

The Senior Class

LEADERS OF ALL SIZES . . . William McDaniel, President; Charles Holland, Historian; Glenda Oglesby, Reporter; Cindy Smith, Treasurer; Joan Leftwich, Secretary; and Harrel Parker, Vice-President are the Senior Class officers.

The Class of '68 chose as its motto, "who walks with wisdom is safe from danger." Throughout the year they armed themselves with wisdom for the future as they debated current issues, completed math projects, or read Shakespeare's plays.

Seniors assumed the responsibility of leadership at Liberty by taking an active part in club work, school publications, SCA activities, and varsity sports. Steve Mayberry served as president of the student body, and Bill McDaniel was class president.

Realizing the nearness of graduation, each senior was compelled to evaluate his past and make definite plans for his future. The taking of college boards was an important step toward a bigger goal. Mr. Oglesby assisted with college admissions and job applications.

Each school event took on a special meaning. The last football and basketball games and the final sock hop brought a twinge of sadness to the heart of every senior.

Graduation practice, the senior class picnic, class night, and baccalaureate filled the final weeks of high school life. Graduation marked the termination of four unforgettable years at Liberty High School. Thus the closing of one door made possible the opening of another toward a horizon filled with new ambitions and aspirations.

The junior class filled the school with both academic and extracurricular activities. The theme for the junior dance held in November was "Dancing in the Streets." The proceeds from the Mr. and Mrs. Jay Walker contest went to the annual Junior-Senior Prom held in the Spring.

Realizing the importance of the junior year, the students were faced with many decisions. One of these decisions was the selection of class rings in December. The students took achievement tests, including PSAT, National Merit Scholarship and Scholastic Aptitude tests which demonstrated their acquired skills.

During first semester, sixty students received invitations to join the National Beta Club during the Beta Tapping assembly.

On the threshold of their final year, the Juniors exemplified leadership and ability.

The Sophomore Class

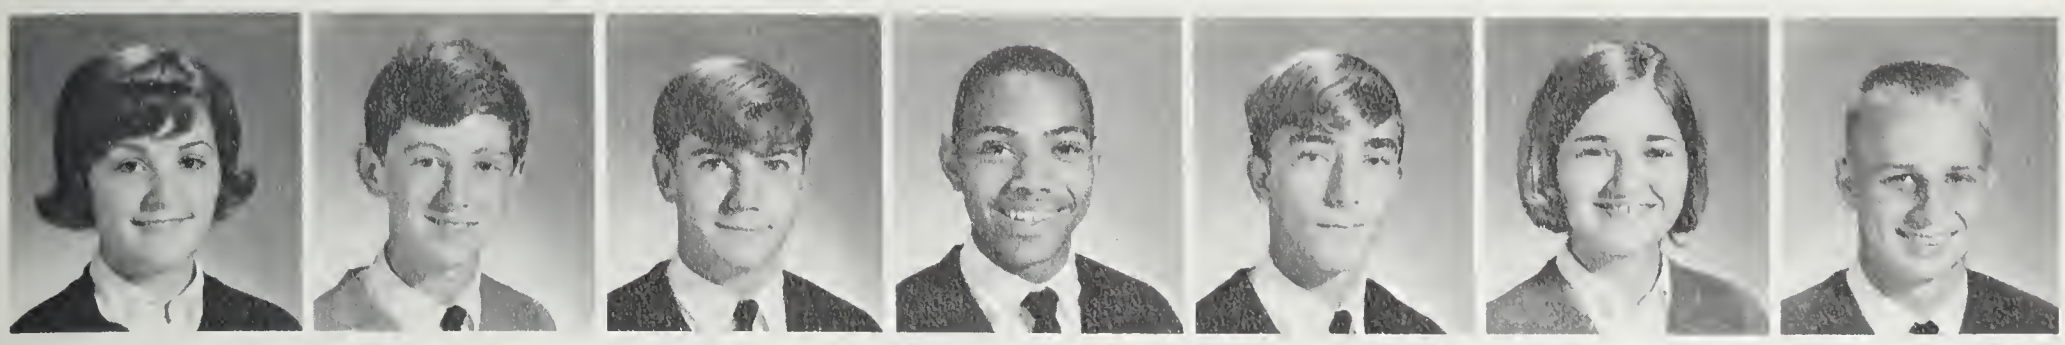

HEY, WHAT'S OVER THERE? . . . Gregg Bailey, President; Susan Putney, Secretary-Treasurer; Joe Mitchell, Reporter; and Wayne May, Vice-President are the Sophomore Class officers.

The sophomores realized both independence and additional responsibility as they became a significant part of senior high life. Special projects and a harder curriculum entailed hours of work and study. Members of the class took the National Educational Development Test administered by the state in March, and those receiving a score of 90 or above were presented with an honor certificate at an assembly in May.

Sophomores received many privileges as well as responsibilities in senior high. They served as club officers, and participated in many team sports including Junior Varsity football and basketball, varsity cheerleading, and varsity football and basketball. Members also worked on the SENTINEL and HERITAGE staffs.

The sophomores sponsored several special projects including a "decorations contest" during the Christmas season which was judged by a panel of judges. The class collected dues from each member to purchase a gift for the school. In all phases of school life the class distinguished itself through its sincerity, enthusiasm, and effort in the classroom, clubs, and sports.

The Freshman Class

AND THAT LITTLE DOT IS BEDFORD . . . Johnny Turner, President; Mike Rucker, Reporter; Cecilia Powers, Vice-President; and Betty Lambeth, Secretary-Treasurer are the Freshman Class officers.

The Freshman class, under the leadership of Johnny Turner, led the Junior High building in preparation for future years as Senior high students. The students took advantage of academic activities and club participation. The Junior varsity teams of basketball, football, and baseball offered boys an opportunity to learn the game and to prepare for varsity competition. In tryouts the preceding spring, twenty-three girls were chosen to lead the Junior High students in football and basketball home games.

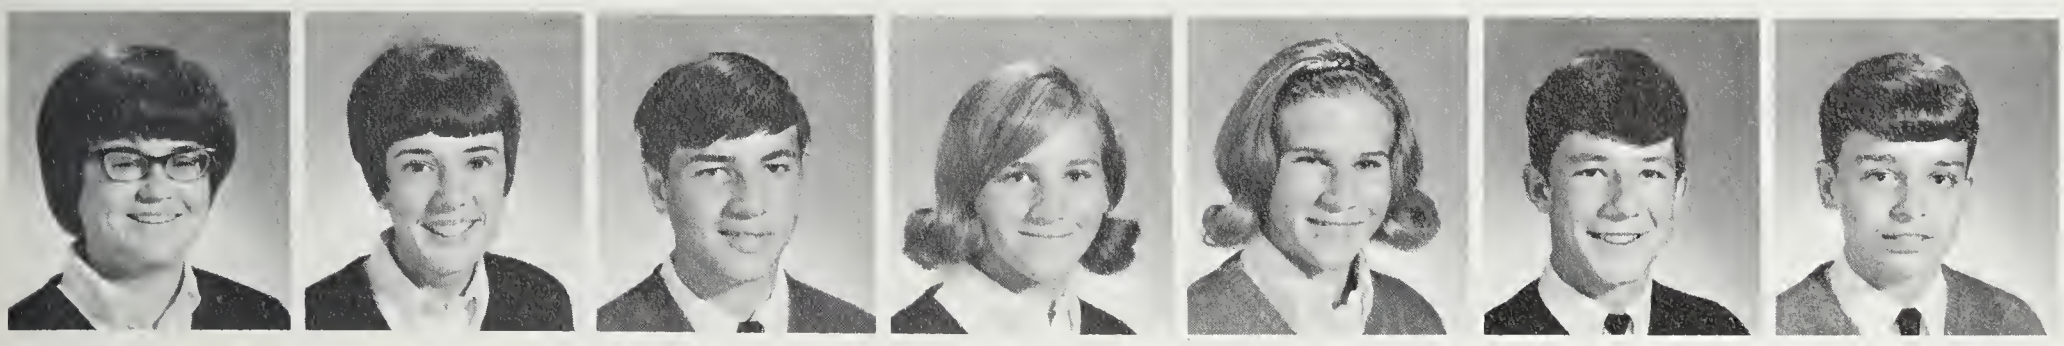

Step and Scat tests were administered to the freshmen in the fall in preparation for State and National tests. A more flexible curriculum allowed students to choose subjects in which they were interested.

Through Junior High clubs, the freshmen gained valuable training in organization and leadership. They held offices, served on committees, and worked on club projects.

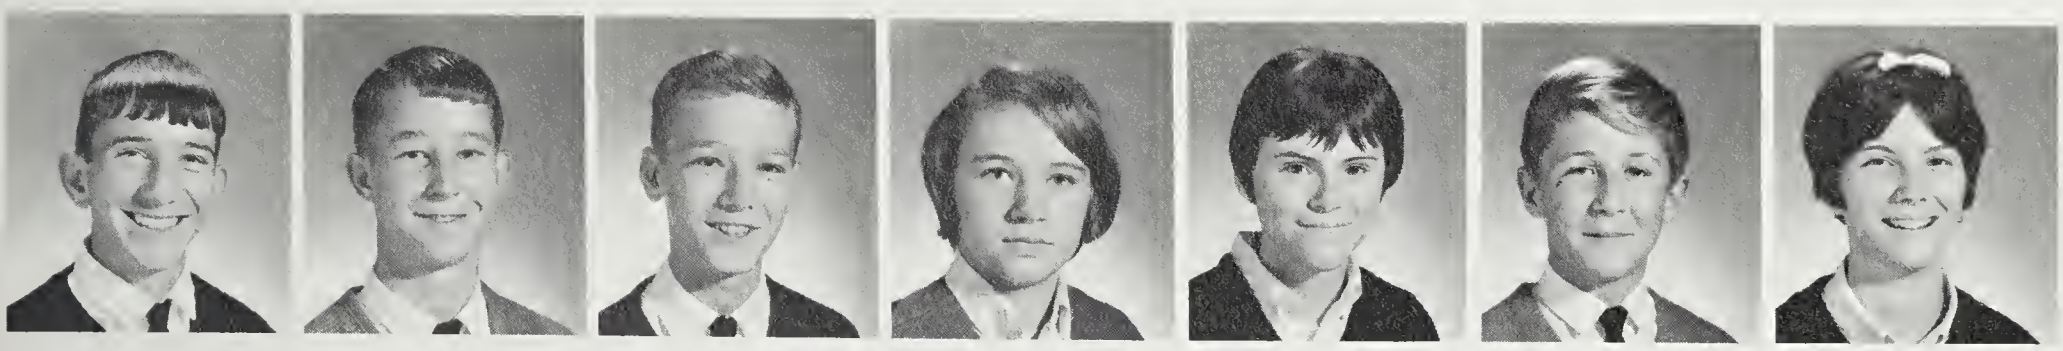

To participate in a sport, club, or a special curriculum the students had to consider their abilities, their interests, and their plans for the future. All of these activities prepared them for next year's role as senior high students.

The Eighth Grade

LOOK STRAIGHT INTO THE CAMERA . . . Glenn Johnson, Ronnie Rice, Theresa Sneed, Linda Brown, Teresa Smith, and Frannie Myers, members of the eighth grade council, make plans for a class meeting.

The eighth grade class entered Liberty filled with anticipation of a new world of high school life. The forming of new friendships and the acceptance of responsibilities made the class a vital and united part of the school.

The election of members from each homeroom to serve on the eighth grade council acquainted the students with the qualities of leadership, responsibility, and participation needed to hold an office. For the first time, eighth graders were allowed to join clubs. This privilege enabled them to learn club procedures, to take part in outside activities, and to work with other high school students.

To adhere to the demand for advanced study, several members of the class were placed in accelerated courses. This transition from elementary subjects directly to academic courses enabled them to take advantage of these classes in higher mathematics and science. These classes will be available to them in their last years of high school life.

In preparation for future years at LHS, a sports program was open to the eighth grade boys which enabled them to take part in the team sports of football and basketball. Continuous practice and tough competition taught the boys the rewards of teamwork and sportsmanship.

Co-operation in this phase of school life helped to foster the qualities of dependability and leadership.

SCA Gives Students Chance to

GIRLS, GIRLS, GIRLS . . . Brenda Latimer, reporter; Marcella Schools, treasurer; Lou Clark, secretary; Steve Mayberry, president; and Pam Clayton, vice-president plan an assembly.

The Student Cooperative Association endeavored to help the school and the administration by fostering school spirit, offering assistance to other clubs, informing the student body of school activities and working with the Parent-Teacher Association and other community organizations. The SCA was sponsored by Mr. Willis P. Oglesby and Mr. Otis Caldwell. Steve Mayberry, president, led the group in discussing problems confronting the students and the best means of alleviating them.

The book store, sponsored by the SCA, gave the students an opportunity to buy such items as paper, pencils, composition books and rulers.

As a yearly project the organization placed Christmas trees in the courtyards of A and C buildings. Members of the council decorated the tree with ornaments made by the Art department.

The SCA Council lent a helping hand to the community by encouraging citizens of Bedford County to donate blood to the Red Cross bloodmobile.

The Beta Club is an organization made up of worthy juniors and seniors who have maintained a grade average of ninety or above. Moreover, they must have displayed good character and leadership in school activities.

The club, assisted by Mrs. Catherine Gordon, sponsor; and Frank Thomasson, president; undertook several projects throughout the school year.

The members operated the concession stand at football games, conducted the tapping service at the November assembly in which sixty new members were inducted, and arranged a bulletin board display for the front hall in the Senior High building. The club provided coaching service for some of the students and sent delegates to the state convention held in Roanoke.

Three members of the club--William McDaniel, Martha Key, and Carla Zimmerman--represented LHS on Klassroom Kwiz.

Through these activities, the Beta Club carried out their motto of "Ducamus aliia serviendo"--"Let us lead by serving others."

The Senior Hi-Y emphasized Christian ideals in everyday life as they undertook service projects in the community.

The officers completed a constitution for the club in the early Fall. On September 19, Tim Childress, Larry Whorley, and Mr. Caldwell, sponsor, attended the District Fall Workshop at Amherst County High School. Five members visited the District conference at Appomattox, and a representative was sent to Model General Assembly in Richmond.

Monthly programs provided the group with informative ideas. Members viewed films on the world-wide work of the Y.M.C.A. Round-table discussions centered around the many phases of sportsmanship. In a joint meeting with other Y clubs, Mr. Frazier spoke on "Conformity versus Non Conformity."

The Senior Hi-Y sponsored a faculty basketball game and presented a scholarship award to the baseball team member having the highest scholastic average.

Guest Speakers Highlight Jr. Hi-Y Meetings

The Jr. Hi-Y, affiliated with the Young Men's Christian Association, issued invitations for club membership to all eighth grade, freshman, and sophomore boys. As a Christian service organization, it is dedicated to the fulfillment of its objective: "to create, maintain, and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the home, school, and community."

With the help of guest speakers, movies, and conferences, Mr. W. A. Carpenter, sponsor, and Chuck Grove, president, introduced new Christian principles to the group. Members selected from the club attended a club debate between William Byrd and Liberty. In the spring, a representative from the club attended the Model Assembly in Richmond.

As a final project of the school year, the club presented a medal to the outstanding J.V. basketball player during the awards assembly.

The Senior Tri-Hi-Y, sponsored by Mrs. Sarah Duis, consisted of eleventh and twelfth grade members. The girls are committed to a Christian purpose of serving others. Their goals are to create, maintain, and extend high standards of well-rounded character throughout their home, school, and community life. The motto is "Clean Speech, Clean Sportsmanship, Clean Scholarship and Clean Living."

The Christmas project of the club was the collection of toys for children in the Bedford County Memorial Hospital. Other yearly activities included a shoe check at all the sock hops, an attractive bulletin board in the senior high building during National Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Week, and attendance of representatives to the District Tri-Hi-Y conference. The members also upheld the club's motto by participating in the Heart Fund Drive.

The Junior Tri-Hi-Y, made up of eighth, ninth, and tenth grade girls, experienced a year of Christian training and service. President Martha Stevens led the group in interesting programs, and Mary Reid Scott was in charge of devotions. The group worked on many projects during the year.

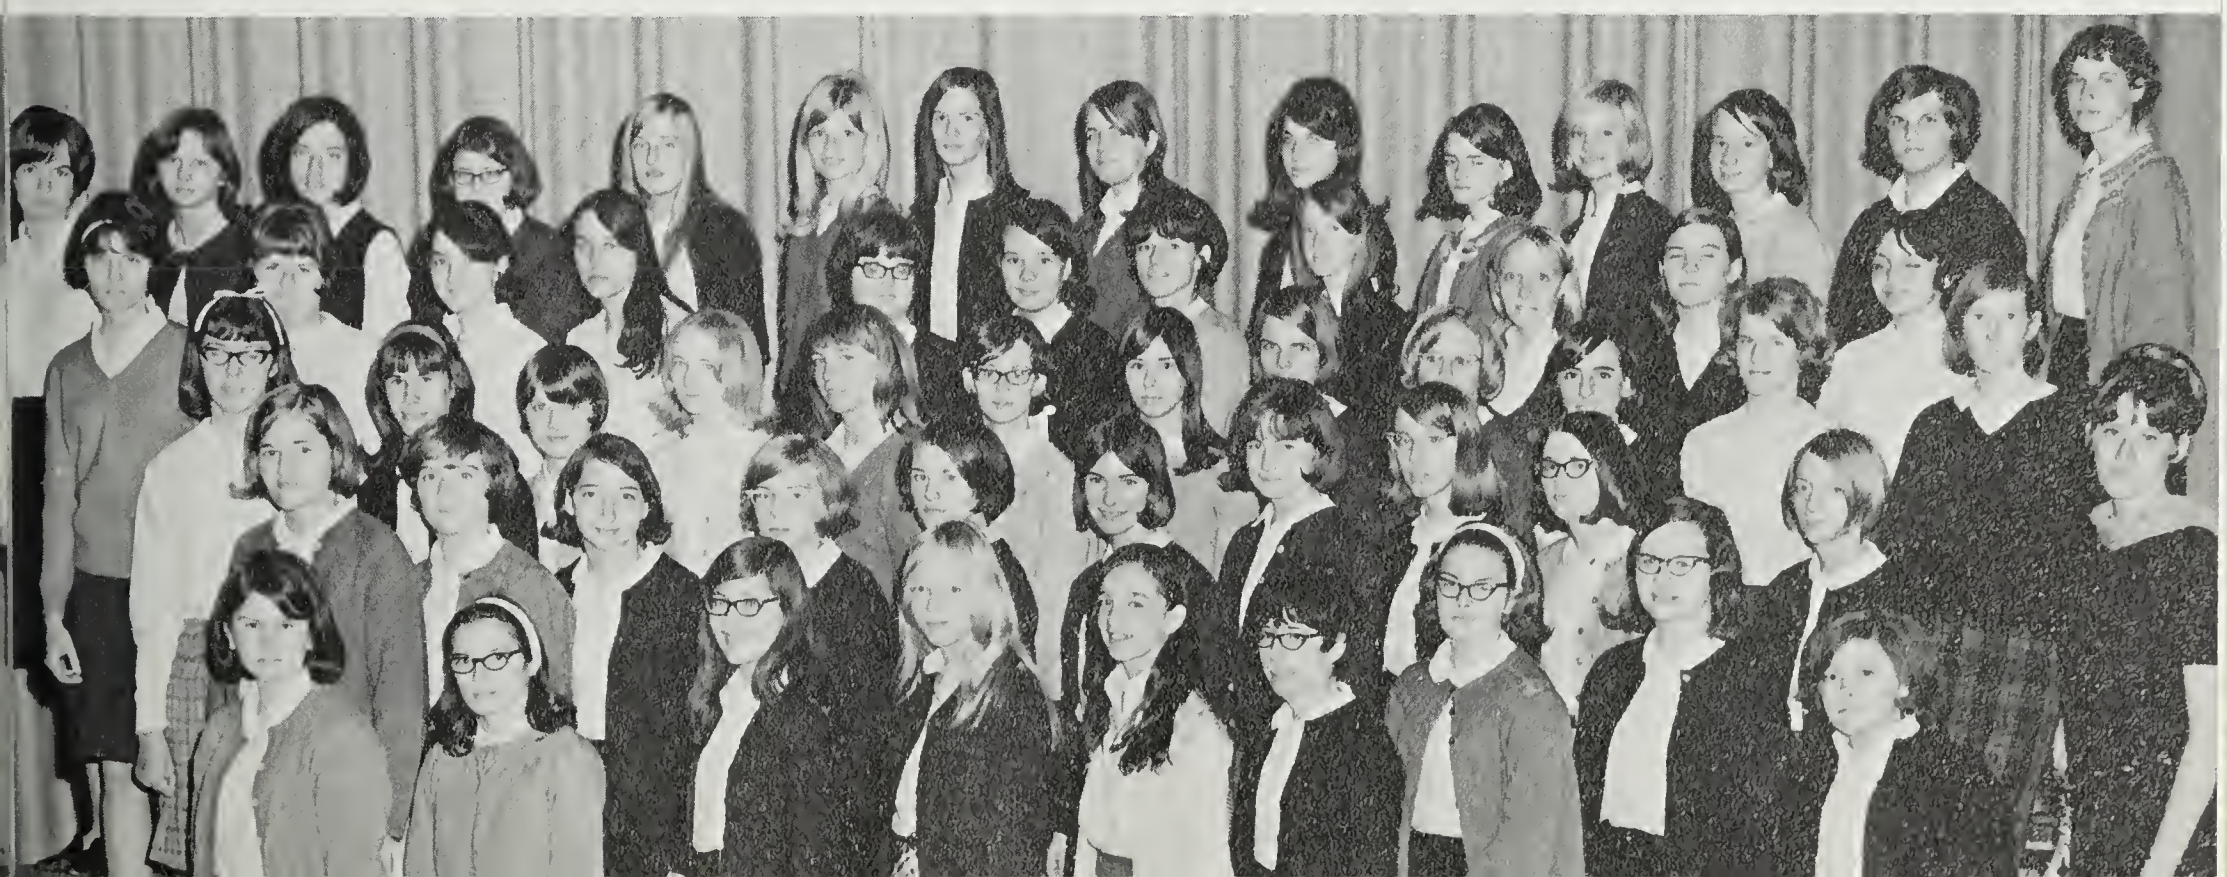

As service projects, they prepared Thanksgiving baskets for the Bedford County Hospital, provided entertainment for the Elks at the Elks National Home, and on one occasion gave apples to each teacher.

At the October meeting, guest speaker, Mr. Forrest L. Frazier discussed "Conformity versus Non-Conformity." For several days before the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays, club members gave devotions over the school intercom.

Miss Green, sponsor, accompanied delegates to the Virginia District Conference in November. The club assisted the Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y in an assembly in May.

Heritage Captures Events of Past Year

The task of publishing an outstanding yearbook began before the opening of school. During the summer many members of the annual staff sold ads to surrounding business corporations. Through the continuous effort of the staff, ad sales were increased sufficiently to enlarge the size of the HERITAGE.

In September, Carla Zimmerman, editor-in-chief; Sue Wilkerson and Dianne Tomlin, senior editors; and Nan Darden, junior editor guided the section editors and the members of their staffs in assembling layouts and gathering information. Photographers visited classrooms, the auditorium, sports events, and special activities to take pictures of every phase of the school year at LHS.

Annual sales started the week before Christmas. A campaign by staff members with posters and special announcements encouraged each student to buy his copy of the HERITAGE.

In January, Nan Darden and Sue Wilkerson accompanied by Mrs. Sigmon, sponsor, visited Charlotte, North Carolina to tour Delmar Printing Company, the yearbook publisher. Several staff members along with the sponsor attended the Spring Yearbook Clinic held at William Fleming High School in Roanoke on March 16.

The 1967 HERITAGE received its rating at S.I.P.A. in April. Also, copies of the yearbook were submitted for judging to the Virginia High School League and the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

The SENTINEL'S co-editors, Dinx Jones and Howard Fine, directed the newspaper staff in improving the writing, typing, proofreading and distribution of Liberty's newspaper.

Miss Diana Shell, SENTINEL sponsor, gave necessary instructions which included the correct style and size of a newspaper story to new reporters. In August, representatives from the SENTINEL attended the Richmond Newspaper Conference. This could make the paper an outstanding publication. Other reporters and columnists were present at S.I.P.A. to learn further details concerning the newspaper and to find the SENTINEL'S rank among other Virginia high school newspapers.

Current events of school life composed the main articles in the monthly newspaper. Feature stories written by creative writing students or other English pupils gave variety to the paper.

Spanish Club Promotes Student Interest

"YOU'VE GOT TO BE PUTTING ME ON!" . . . Barbara Paxton, president; Dana Newman, secretary; Martha Key, chaplain; and Pam Albert, vice-president observe a Spanish poster in the hall of C Building.

This year the Spanish club's main objective was to promote international interests by sending a third year student to a Spanish speaking country, such as Spain or Mexico. The group raised money by making and selling Christmas decorations, sponsoring a school-wide paper drive, and holding car washes and bake sales. To instill an interest in the Spanish language and vocabulary, students displayed posters in the hall depicting a different word each week. At Christmas, the club sent Christmas cards to the boys in Vietnam who had previously attended Liberty.

At the regular club meetings the group saw several movies, including "Quien Jo". Several members presented a pageant, "La Nochebuena", which exemplified Spanish Christmas customs. The students created a festive atmosphere on their annual Spanish day when they dressed in native costumes and placed many posters displaying Spanish customs in the halls.

HOW ABOUT THESE ODDS, ROBERT? . . . Kathleen Thomasson, reporter; Linda Miles, vice-president; and Dorothy Napier, secretary talk to Robert Ashwell, president before a meeting.

The French Club sought to promote an appreciation of French culture and customs in school life. The group visited the orphanage in Lynchburg at Christmas. After singing carols to the children, the group traveled to Natural Bridge for ice skating. In October, the club held a school-wide drive for small articles such as candy, books, and soap. These were wrapped and sent to former LHS students serving in Vietnam.

French day ceremonies in the spring ended with a banquet served in the French style.

Mr. Sowell, club sponsor; and Robert Ashwell, president encouraged the students to attend a French play presented at Randolph Macon Woman's College. During one of the meetings, Ed Glass gave a talk, illustrated with pictures taken during his recent trip to France. At the end of the year, the club presented a college scholarship to the most outstanding student in French.

Latin Club Holds Slave Day in Early Fall

Under the direction of Mrs. Virginia Stone and the two consuls, Julie Stanley and Martha Key, the Torchbearer's Club participated in activities stressing Roman life and culture.

The club held its annual Slave Day on September 19. At this time the first-year students dressed in tunics and performed menial tasks for their masters who were second, third, and fourth year students. In an assembly at the end of the day, the Virgil class composed of fourth year students inducted the slaves into the club with a candlelight ceremony.

The Latin banquet was held on November 4. Following a Roman meal, program and entertainment, the slaves were given their freedom papers.

Several students competed in the State Latin tournament held at Randolph Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg and submitted essays for competition. Certificates for their accomplishments were presented at the school's awards assembly at the conclusion of the year.

Art Club Stimulates Members' Talents

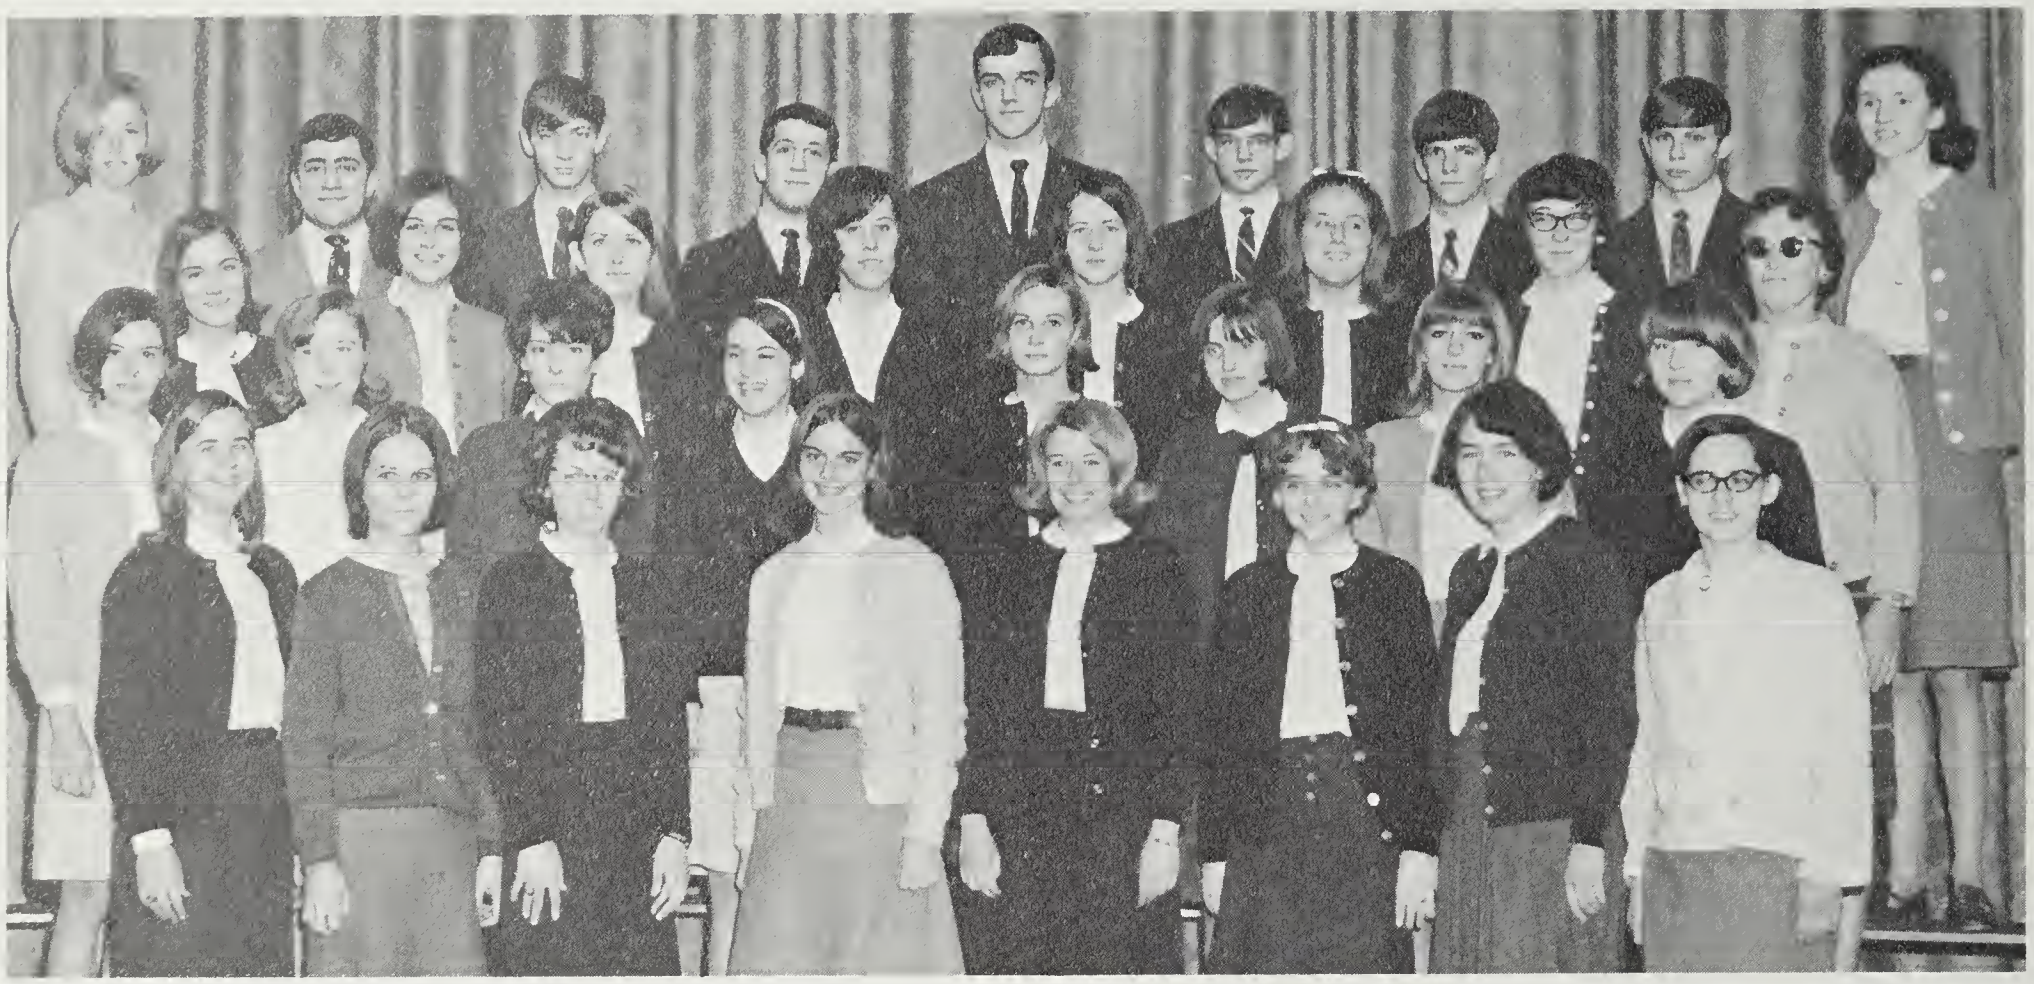

Members of the Art Club attempted to stimulate interest in art throughout the student body. A continuous display of art was exhibited in the library. These paintings and sculptures gained the attention of passing students and demonstrated the art talent found at Liberty. The club, assisting in various school projects such as decorating the annual Christmas trees and contributing their knowledge in making posters and eye-catching bulletin boards, helped to boost school spirit.

Mrs. Julia Overstreet, club sponsor and art teacher, presented several films on art to the club. These films encouraged the members to develop their talents fully and presented the many fields in which art plays an important role.

The Art Club's talent gave both members and other students a greater appreciation for art in their daily lives.

Quill and Scroll Aids School Publications

Liberty's chapter of the National Quill and Scroll Society, the John Peter Zenger Chapter, stimulated an interest in high school publications and encouraged talented students to pursue a career in journalism. Membership invitations were issued to juniors and seniors maintaining an average of ninety or above who were also active members of the HERITAGE or SENTINEL STAFFS.

In a February assembly, Mrs. Ollie Hamm, advisor to the chapter, and Martha Yowell, president, conducted an induction service for the twenty-six new members. The purpose and ideals of Quill and Scroll were explained to the student body as the new members received their insignia of the Society.

The club members helped in subscription drives held by the newspaper and yearbook and decorated the bulletin board in observance of National Newspaper Week, October 10-16.

Students Assist in School Library Work

O.K., ETHEL, WHAT'S IN THE DRAWER? . . . Ronnie Dooley, treasurer; Bonnie Reynolds, president; Elaine Dooley, vice-president; and Ethel Johnson, secretary arrange cards in the "C" drawer.

The Library Club's main functions were to help further the library program of the school, to stimulate reading, and to encourage library science as a profession. This year, its fifty members, under the leadership of Miss Virginia Ruff, learned to use resource material correctly and efficiently to assist other students in the library.

The monthly meetings provided the material needed to familiarize the members with all types of literature. The club placed emphasis on the importance of the library in presenting new ideas and preserving old concepts. Job opportunities and working conditions were subjects of group discussions during the year.

Several members of the club served as aides during their study halls, checking out books, cataloging, and filing information. Others prepared the bulletin boards and displays in the library.

Members Compete in Forensic Activities

SAY "AH" . . . Lou Clark and Jim Fitzpatrick demonstrate speech techniques to club members.

The Forensics Club, guided by Mrs. Belle English, sponsor, and Shirley Plunkett, president, attempted to acquaint the student body with the meaning of forensics.

With the cooperation of the English Department, the club sponsored a school-wide forensic contest to select representatives for the district Forensic meet. The winners of this contest represented LHS in the district, regional, and state meets.

Under the leadership of Jim Fitzpatrick, a committee formed a debate system at Liberty. With the support of the English and history departments, different classes held debate sessions after midterm exams.

"ARE YOU LISTENING, MIKE?" . . . Kaye Kendall, president, discusses the upcoming play with Linda Rockecharlie, vice-president; Sally Markham, secretary; Jean McDaniel, treasurer and Mike Long, reporter.

The Dramatics Club recognized the need for an interest in dramatic productions at Liberty and attempted to foster that interest through actual participation in theater work. The annual Christmas assembly featured a play written by Leighton Strader and presented by members of the club.

Theatrical techniques and the value of a good play were emphasized during club periods. Discussions on production and settings enabled drama club members to be of assistance in other plays produced during the year.

The main project of the club was to encourage the members and other students to attend the plays given by "little theater" groups or traveling companies playing in the cities of the surrounding district.

The club gave any person interested in dramatics as a career or hobby a chance to voice his feelings to the rest of the group. He had both a talented staff of sponsors and his fellow club members to give him constructive criticism and advice.

NOBODY WILL DANCE WITH ME! . . . Mr. Groseclose watches as Dramatics Club members enjoy their Christmas party.

Arts and Crafts Promotes Mechanical Skills

The Arts and Crafts Club, with the advice of co-sponsors, Mr. Patrick Sherman and Mr. David Miller, was completely reorganized. The club established a set membership of twenty-four boys, six from each of the grades nine through twelve. Each member was required to have an overall C or above average, to be enrolled in or to have completed a course in Industrial Arts. The new objectives included the construction of projects for the benefit of both students and school, and the extension of opportunities for leadership and organization.

The club stressed the different techniques used in the construction of plastic and leather arts and crafts.

OH, TO BE YOUNG AGAIN . . . Glenn Gray, president; Larry Bandy, secretary; Mike Huddleston, vice-president; Mike Jones, treasurer, look up information on occupations involving the use of engineering.

The Junior Engineering Technologist Society, or Jets Club, set forth higher goals to attain the greatest possible level of cooperation and interest in engineering among members of the club and the student body.

Requirements for membership in this club were a C or above average for juniors and seniors and a high B or A average for sophomores. Each member was expected to exhibit a project at the Bedford County Science Fair held March 6-7.

Glenn Gray, president, was one of seven seniors who participated in the Westinghouse Science Talent Search. In February, several members entered the Mead Science Essay Competition hoping to maintain the precedence set in previous years.

Through the planning and leadership of Mr. Brown, sponsor, club members visited several colleges throughout the state, thus enabling them to become acquainted with the student life of the college as well as the academic program. Later in the year the club toured Babcock and Wilcox, Co., in Lynchburg.

Sr. Club Plans Varied Programs

Recognizing the need for a greater understanding of science in an increasingly technical world, the S.O.S. Science Club of LHS designed programs and projects to promote interest in science throughout the student body and the surrounding community. Dr. D. Rae Carpenter of V. M. I. spoke to the club members and their parents at the annual Science Family Night Program. The S.O.S. club members and students of other county schools sponsored the Science Fair, and exhibited out-standing projects in the Regional Science Fair.

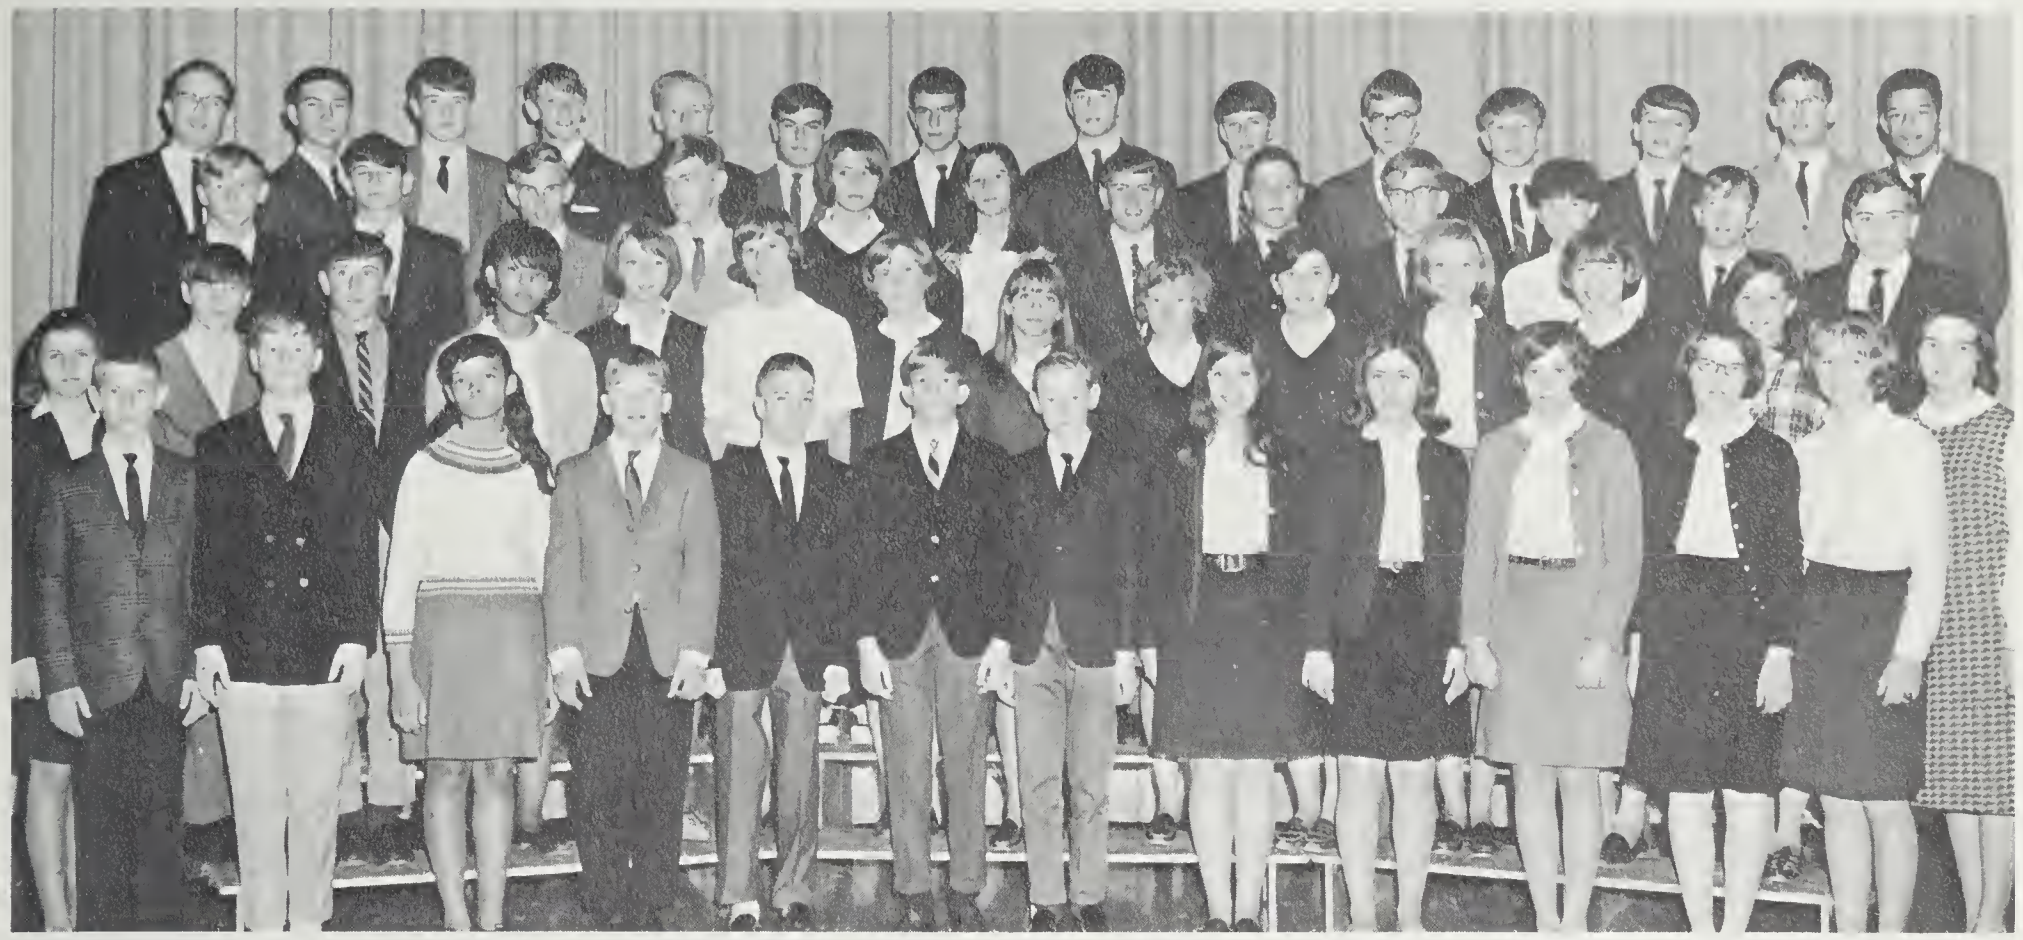

Under the guidance of Mrs. Thaxton, sponsor, the club promoted participation in the science contests available to high school students. Kenneth Chappelle and Nan Darden attended the Junior Science and Humanities Symposium at the University of Virginia. The club selected a member to participate in the annual contest at William and Mary and encouraged students to attend the NSF Summer Science Institutes.

"HMM, NOT BAD" . . . Gary Templeton, chaplain; Mike Brennan, reporter; Mike Huddleston, historian; Betsy Valiant, secretary; Kenneth Chappelle, president; Ann McCauley, reporter; Nan Darden, vice-president; and Kerry Hudnall, treasurer, examine a biology specimen before a meeting.

Arrington, K. Goff, J. Melton, T. Fulks, M. Rucker, S. Howell, M. Overstreet, J. Stanley, C. Boggess, J. Sivley, E. Brown.

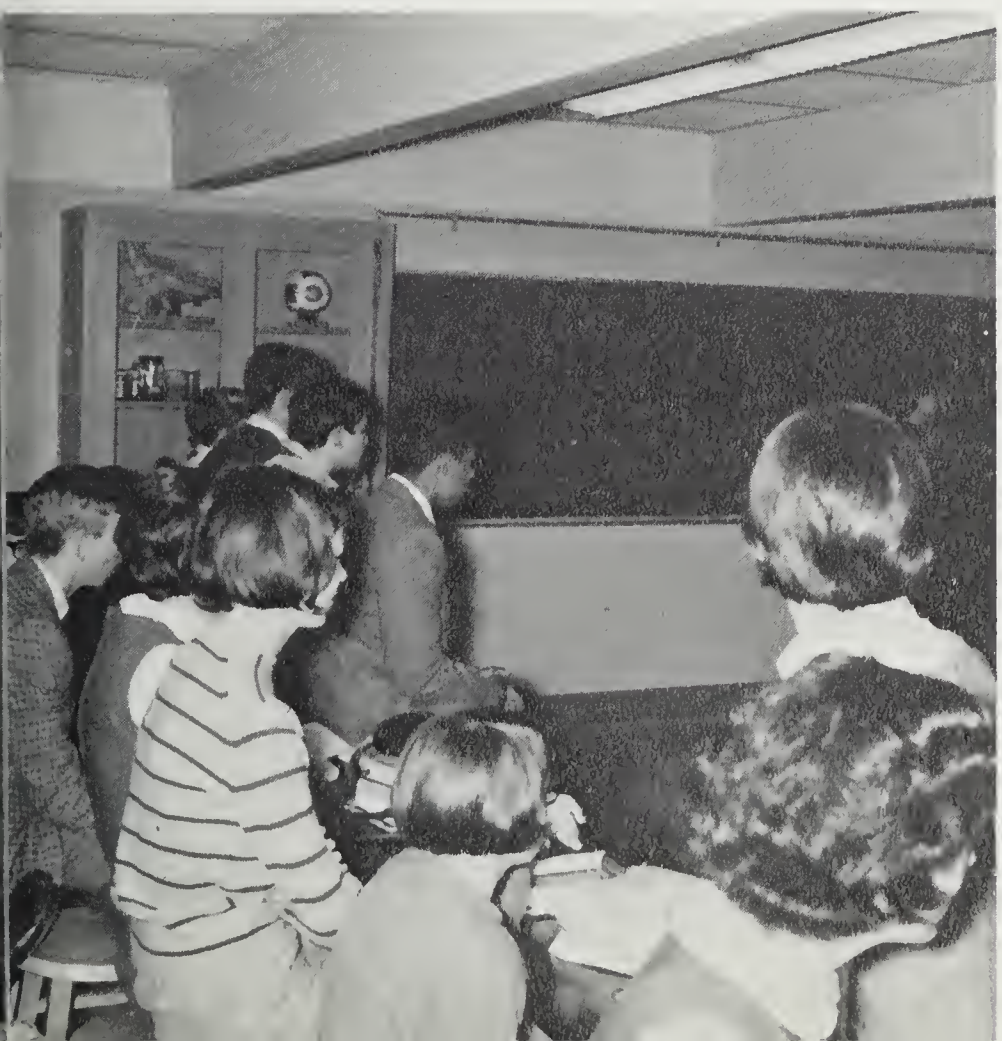

The Junior Science club organized at the beginning of the year held its own programs, but worked congruently with the Senior club on the major projects and activities.

Monthly programs informed the members of VJAS, the FSA contest, the Wildlife essay, the Conservation Poster contest, the NASA Regional Contest, and the Meade Essay Contest. Sponsors encouraged the members to participate in the activities for which they were eligible, and most of the members placed exhibits in the local science fair.

The clubs planned two field trips—one to Engineering Open House at the University of Virginia. On Heart Fund Sunday, junior and senior members canvassed Bedford to receive contributions. They entered a club float in the Christmas Parade and their miniature float in the homecoming parade placed second.

A sock-hop following the Amherst-Liberty football game, a bakesale, and a poster paper sale were the club's money making projects.

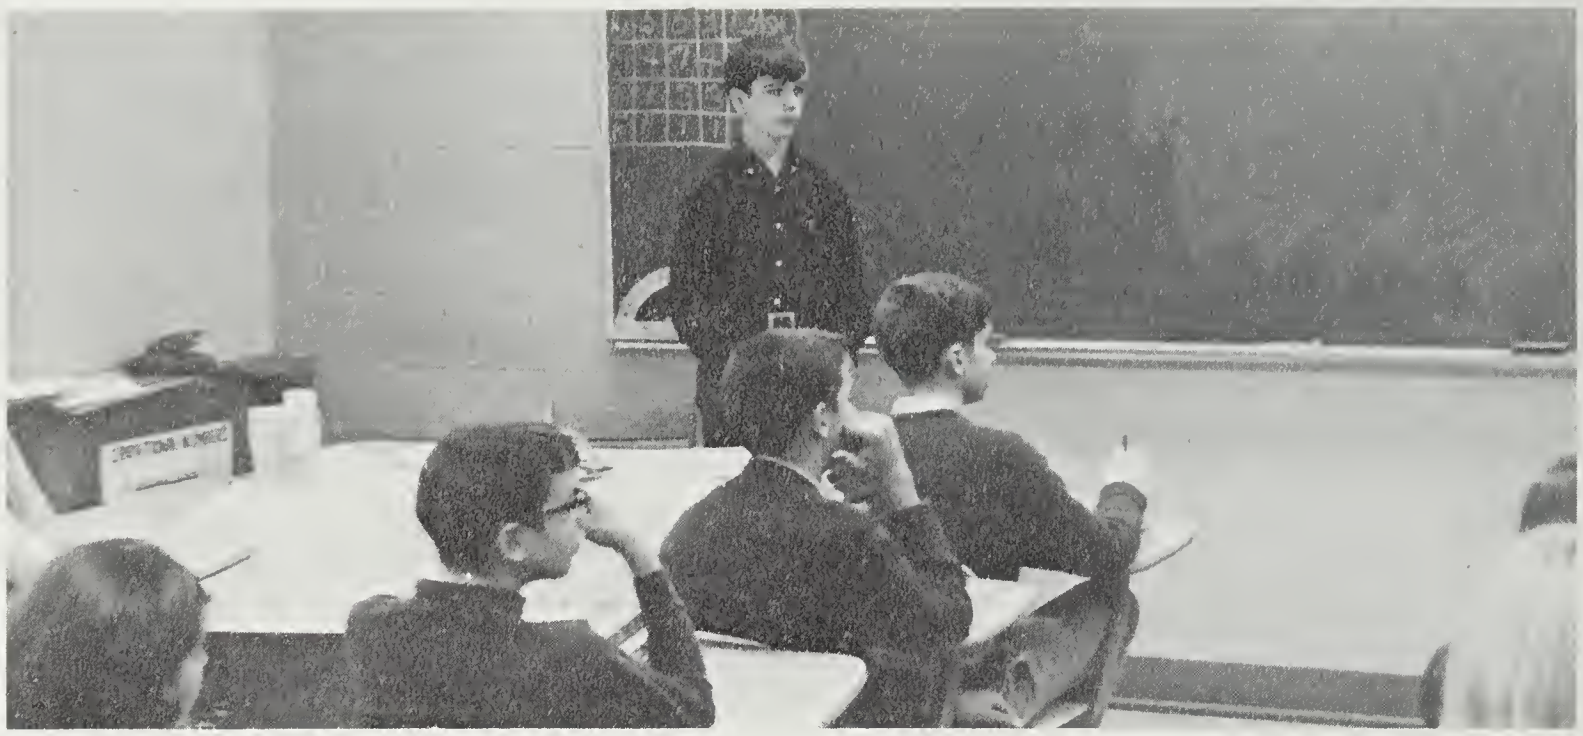

LET'S ALL LISTEN NOW . . . Junior Science club members listen intently to Mrs. Duncan as she explains the theory of relativity.

Science Students Organize New Jr. Club

"YOU SAY THEY'RE ALL AROUND US?" . . . Bill Coleman, president; Jerry Craig, reporter; Becky Frazier, treasurer; Georgeanne Thaxton, scrapbook committee chairman; Donna Laing, secretary; Cecilia Tanner, vice-president; and Eva Yoder, chaplain pause in the library after a club meeting.

HEY, LISTEN TO ME! . . . Tommy Hodges and other math club members give their attention to an unknown speaker.

Due to the large enrollment of math students, the math club was divided into two groups at the beginning of the year. The junior club, organized for those eighth and ninth graders with a special interest in mathematics, worked concurrently with the senior members on projects, but carried out interesting programs within its own group. The basic study of a slide rule, special bases, negative and positive numbers, and also possible careers in the field of mathematics were among some of the topics discussed.

The club helped to sponsor the Matharama by serving on committees and entering projects. In the Junior division, Jimmy Lyle placed first with his project "Pendulum Patterns". Other winners were Eva Yoder, Joan Hatcher, and Dreama McMillan.

Junior club members participated in the special activities of the senior club, and planned one trip of their own. They joined the Senior club in a spring banquet.

The Alpha Gamma Theta Math Club stimulated interest, creativity, and research in mathematics by teaching students to organize and carry out group projects. Over three hundred students took part in the Matharama; and for the first time, projects were judged. Ivan Green placed first in the Senior Division, while Michael Brennan and Mark Huddleston received the second place awards.

The club members observed mathematics in the world around them through special activities. At Hayes, Seay, Mattern, and Mattern architectural firm in Roanoke, students saw draftsmen, architects, and computer programmers at work. Later the club attended University of Virginia Engineering Day in Charlottesville.

Several members who had completed two years of high school mathematics and had maintained a B average were honored with membership in the National High School and Junior College Mathematics Club, Alpha Mu Theta.

During the meetings, students worked with mathematical puzzles and learned to use slide rules. The group studied careers in the field of mathematics and discussed the impact of computers on industry. In a Spring meeting, members presented a playlet depicting the lives of mathematicians.

The Math Club entered a float in the Bedford Christmas Parade and helped to sponsor the Heart Fund Sunday program.

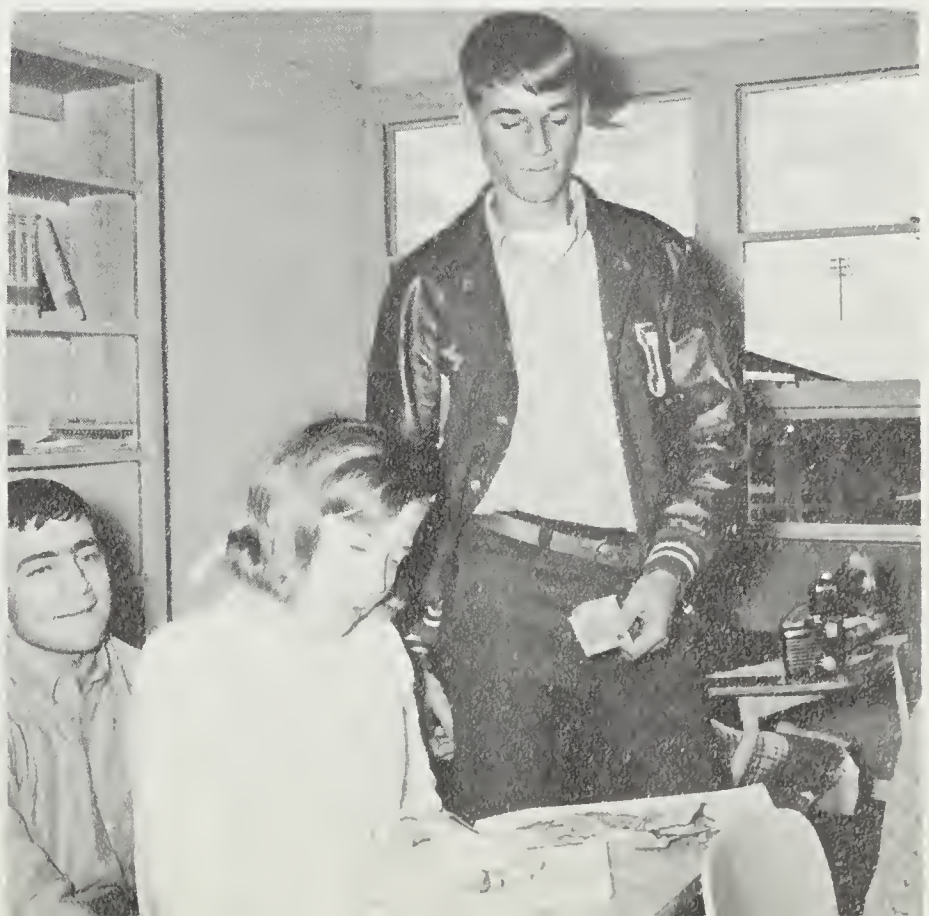

At the end of the year the Senior Math Club and the Junior Math Club joined together for a banquet.

FHA Sponsors Spring Fashion Show

"Toward New Horizons" . . . the Future Homemakers of America motto, represents to the members that their contribution to home life today will influence the kinds of homes they have tomorrow.

The club's theme for this year was "Conservation and Dealing with the Beauty of the Earth." In order to explore the concepts involved with their theme, the club heard Mr. Dan Lee, a park ranger, speak on the natural beauty and conservation of the area. He expressed the importance of everyone working together in order for the community to preserve its natural resources.

During December, Mrs. Earl Ware from Big Island, spoke to the club on Christmas decorations. Her talk encompassed ideas for making inexpensive ornaments and general types of decorations.

The Future Homemakers of America Federation dinner meeting was held at Liberty in the LHS cafeteria with the business meeting being conducted in the auditorium. A large delegation from Staunton River and Susie Gibson represented their respective chapters.

As an affiliate of the National Organization, the club benefited from suggested projects and ideas on the national and state levels.

Judy Kendrick, president, led the girls in the Liberty Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America in working together to make the community a friendlier place in which to live.

YOU SAY THIS IS THE FHA MEETING? . . . Larry Whorley seems out of place at the FHA Christmas party.

"I THINK WE'RE ALONE NOW" . . . Federation officers Judy Kendrick, second vice-president; Dinx Jones, president; Judy Chandler, vice-president; and Joyce Eubank, reporter, discuss plans for the fall Federation meeting.

"OR WE COULD" . . . Dianne Owen, Lynn Dooley, Amanda Sumpter, and Sharon Luck decide what speaker to ask for their next meeting.

"I WONDER WHERE THEY FILE 'FINGERS'?" . . . Sandra Craig, secretary; Elaine Dooley, president; Janet Whitehurst, treasurer; and Minerva Thomas, reporter, put their knowledge of filing into practice.

The Future Teachers of America designed programs for the year that would interest students in the vocational opportunities of education. Mrs. Edith Shelton, advisor, and Elaine Dooley, president, directed the members toward an understanding and acquisition of the qualities, traits, and aptitudes that make a person a good teacher.

The club sent Janet Whitehurst, Minerva Thomas, and Katherine Walden to the State FTA convention. Their reports prompted new programs and activities within the group.

The FTA provided guides for the visiting representatives from colleges and businesses during Liberty's College and Career Day. In the Spring, the members planned and presented a faculty tea.

Active club members received recognition through the presentation of the club pin to members who earned the required number of points obtained by assisting teachers.

The Future Farmers of America, through theory and participation, developed competent and aggressive leadership in rural life and agriculture.

Time and money-saving methods on farming and farm management were demonstrated during club meetings. The scholarship of each student was regarded as important and manual skills of the individual were stressed. The activities of the club improved the farm home and developed high traits of character which benefited the entire community.

In fostering patriotism as the way of life in the United States, Mr. Ed Harmon, sponsor, and Larry Routon, president, explained to the group that the part they played in thefuture of their country was one of the most important factors of our economy.

During the year, the group enjoyed programs on animal nutrition and wildlife conservation. The boys attended all Bedford--Botetourt FFA Federation meetings and sent delegates to the State FFA Convention.

"STAY IN LINE, PLEASE" . . . Mr. Harmon and Edward Sims conduct the initiation ritual at an FFA meeting.

"HEY, LOOK AT THIS!" . . . Karen Wright, Connie Allen, and Sharon Giles read an article in the PULSE, a newspaper published by Virginia Baptist Hospital in Lynchburg.

Club Seeks Job Opportunities in Medicine

The Medical Careers Club, sponsored by the Committee on Careers of the National League for Nursing, brought together students sharing an interest in health careers. Programs were planned to provide information on the professional, vocational, and technical job opportunities open to young people who entered the health field.

During the year the Medical Careers Club, led by Mrs. Hannah Bolling, sponsor, and Sharon Driskill, president, earned its National Charter and sponsored an assembly program on health careers. This program was presented by a representative of the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care. At Christmas, the members made miniature pillow corsages for the patients in the Bedford County Memorial Hospital. The club visited the Ronaoke Memorial Hospital Rehabilitation Center in the early Spring.

FBLA Offers Secretarial Service to School

The FBLA planned programs and projects which encouraged an interest in business careers and sound business practices.

At the September meeting, Linda Sands and Peggy Arrington gave reports on the summer Massanetta Conference which they had attended. In a later meeting, the members discussed parliamentary law.

Katy Salyer was chosen in a January speaking contest to represent the club in the regional convention contest at Longwood College. There were also entries in the spelling, bulletin board, most original project, and essay contests. The February meeting featured a speaker from the Nancy Taylor Course on good grooming.

As its main project, Mrs. Mishoe, sponsor, and the club set up a secretarial service for typing papers, tests, and reports for teachers and students at set rates.

At the end of the year, the club awarded a scholarship to a member showing potential in the field of business

The DE club was composed of the students enrolled in the Distributive Education curriculum at LHS. These students plan to enter occupations concerning consumer processing and selling.

Selected members competed in the district contest in the fields of advertising, copy and layout, salesmanship, public speaking, display and job interviews. This contest was held jointly with other area schools. At the Fall Rally, students met with other DE club members and heard business problems and opportunities discussed by professional businessmen.

The club members participated in the Chamber of Commerce Christmas Parade and their float won third place. The club held an employer-employee banquet at LHS in the Spring.

All of the activities were directed towards the fulfillment of the club's goals: to become a service club to the students and to the school, and to create an awareness of the American marketing and economy system.

The Liberty High School Chorus began an eventful year with the arrival of the new choir robes. The chorus members stressed music during Education Week, November 6-12. Each morning a member read a selection concerning various styles and forms of music over the intercom. A variety of musical selections were played in both cafeterias during the lunch periods.

Especially busy throughout the Christmas season, the group sang at the Christmas assembly and presented a concert on December 17. Mr. Hunter directed the chorus at the Lynchburg Christmas Basket program broadcast over station WLVA and in the Bedford program from the Elks Home over WBLT.

The chorus participated in the district festival and sent representatives to All-State Chorus held during the last of February. On May 14, the group presented a Spring concert to the community. The chorus concluded the year's activities with entertainment for parents and patrons at graduation.

The new uniforms of the Liberty High band added a special spirit to the first home football game. Through many co-operative projects of the band and community, a remarkable sum of $10,000 was raised to purchase these uniforms. The band performed at all football games under the direction of Mr. John Hunter and Ricky Harper, drum major, and won first place in the Christmas parade. With the chorus, the band presented Christmas and Spring Concerts to raise money for more equipment.

The leadership of the band was divided among squad leaders who were elected by each section. These leaders were responsible for maintaining smooth and precise march formations. For the first time at LHS, an official drum majorette corps, with Dorothy Napier as head majorette, was formed. These girls traveled with the band and designed routines to supplement its performance. The Liberty band fostered spirit and good sportsmanship as it displayed the talents of its members.

Minutemen Distinguish Themselves by Showing Superb Defense on the Field

The Liberty High Minutemen opened their '67 season with a 13-13 tie with Brookville. The first touchdown came following a 60 yard pass from Mike Coleman to Frank Bush. Wayne Bailey crashed into the end zone from the 3-yard line for the score. Mike Coleman contributed the second TD on a 1-yard plunge.

In the second game, Liberty faced a strong Cave Spring team. However, the Minutemen defense effectively halted the high-powered Knight offense to a minimum of yardage. The game ended in a disheartening 7-0 loss.

The Minutemen trounced Bassett in a stunning offensive exhibition. This high-spirited running attack reeled off more than 400 yards. Mike Coleman covered 160 yards and ran for two touchdowns. Frank Bush carried for a total of 200 yards and a well-earned 6 points. Wayne Bailey added the final score for an impressive 26-13 victory.

Homecoming resulted in a disappointing tie with a fired-up Botetourt team. The Minutemen were held to six points until the final seconds of the game. Luckily, Wayne Bailey picked off a pass that had been batted into the air by a Botetourt defender, and scampered in for the score. Final tally, 12-12.

Great spirit and a superior combination of offense and defense led the Minutemen to a 14-0 decision over the Northside Vikings. With lightening speed, Frank Bush led the Minutemen to score both touchdowns. Richard Latimer added two extra points. A tenacious defense held the Vikings scoreless.

The jinx with Covington was finally broken as a hard-driving effort by the Minutemen paid off in victory. The defense, after a shaky start, completely stopped the Cougars and allowed them only 24 yards total offense in the last three quarters. The fierce forward wall of Liberty was led by Robert Ashwell and Danny Toms.

Friday the thirteenth proved to be an ill omen for the Minutemen. Plagued by fumbles and mistakes, Liberty could not score against a strong Amherst team. The Liberty defense held the powerful Lancer offense in the first half and all but forty seconds in the second half. The final score, Liberty 0, Amherst 13.

An equally determined offense and defense met the Glenvar team. The offense rolled up 34 points, the highest on record for any Liberty football team. Frank Bush and Mike Coleman led the scoring for the Minutemen with two touchdowns each. Wayne Bailey added the final score with Richard Latimer contributing the PAT's. The score at the final gun, Liberty 34, Glenvar 6.

The Liberty High Minutemen lost to the William Byrd Terriers in their ninth game of the season. During the first three periods Byrd controlled the ball, making three touchdowns. However, the Minutemen seemed to catch fire in the fourth quarter. Mike Coleman scored the first touchdown on a one yard plunge capping a sustained drive. Quarterback Coleman set up the second score with

J.V.'s Exhibit Ability and Desire

The J.V. football team under the leadership of coaches Mr. Patrick Sherman and Mr. Dave Miller experienced a profitable but not a winning season. The boys gained fundamentals of the game through actual play.

The team's season started with a potent offense, as they defeated a strong Botetourt team and tied with a determined Northside team. Due to a rash of injuries, the offense faltered in the latter games of the season. The junior Minutemen ended the year with a 1-3-1 overall record.

The J.V.'s showed ability and determination throughout the season. The attitude and pride shown in the games will give the future varsity the spirit needed to have a winning team.

The Eighth-Ninth Grade Minutemen finished the year with a 3-3 record. Under new coaches, Steve Rich and Bob Cox, the boys received their training and displayed commendable sportsmanship. In the second game of the season, the team overcame Lord Botetourt, 34-6. In the following game the Eighth-Ninth Grade team walloped the county rivals, Staunton River, by a score of 34-0. The last victory of the season was the result of a 29-6 win over Franklin County. Having a strong belief of victory instilled in them, the Eighth-Ninth Grade Minutemen bettered last year's record and proved themselves to be great prospects to the future of LHS's football team.

Cheerleaders Emphasize School Spirit

WIN! TO-O-O-NIGHT! . . . Varsity Football Cheerleaders arouse school spirit at a mid-day pep rally.

Twelve girls composed the varsity football cheerleaders squad. These girls held high-spirited pep rallies during lunch on each Friday before a game. To promote more school spirit, they sold booster items and displayed posters around the school for all games.

Several members of the squad attended the National Cheerleading Camp at Ferrum Junior College during the summer. Through stiff state-wide competition, they gained experience and learned new cheers for the school year.

Homecoming was an important event during football season. The cheerleaders under the supervision of their sponsor, Mrs. Sherman, conducted a special pep rally the night before the Homecoming game. The team lighted a bonfire and members of various clubs participated in a miniature parade. As a climax to the evening, the cheerleaders played a mock football game.

HEY! READY, OK! . . . The senior cheerleaders, Cindy Smith, Judy Kendrick, Kandy Reynolds, and Carla Zimmerman, lead a cheer during a pep rally.

The junior varsity football cheerleaders showed both ability and enthusiasm throughout the season. Led by co-captains Kathy Synan and Cecelia Tanner, the girls gained valuable experience needed to be a school leader.

The twelve freshman girls were selected in late spring by faculty members, team captains, coaches, and the cheerleading sponsors. These high-spirited girls kept the junior high building decorated with attractive posters and sold booster buttons to students. The girls also took part in making a hoop for the home-coming game. The cheerleaders cheered for both J.V. and Eighth Grade home games.

Prevail at Game Time

WE GOTTA BE TOUGH NOW! . . . Charles Strode, Mike Coleman, Wayne Bailey, Bill McDaniel, and Marvin Mills rally in the center circle to start the Covington game.

The 1967-68 season was considered to be a complete rebuilding year with only one starter returning. The coaching staff planned to build everything around high–scoring junior Mike Coleman, The lack of height and depth was figured to be the weak spot in the framework of the team.

The season opened with Mike Coleman pouring in 40 points, a new school scoring record, to lead the Minutemen to a 79–61 victory over Lord Botetourt.

The following night Liberty ran into red–hot Brookville and came out on the short end, 74–71. Coleman again led with 32 points as Bailey trailed with 15.

The Covington Cougars were next in line. Coleman was held to 19 as the Cougars won 62–57.

The big Red got back on the winning track with an 80–50 homecourt victory over Glenvar. A pressing defense in the third quarter enabled the Minutemen to break the game open and coast home easily.

Again a pressing defense and hot first half carried Liberty to a 76–65 win over Blue Ridge foe, William Byrd. Coleman led a balanced attack with 35 followed by Wayne Bailey with 17.

Liberty traveled across the county to battle Staunton River on December 16. After a nip and tuck first half, the Minutemen pulled away and held on to finish with a 68-61 win.

The Minutemen recorded their fourth straight win while gaining revenge over Brookville, 76–49. Coleman tallied 25, Strode 17, as Liberty ran its record to 5–2.

WAY TO GO, BILL . . . Bill McDaniel brings in a key rebound as a high–spirited Liberty goes on to defeat Staunton River.

OVER HERE, RAYMOND! . . . Minutemen stand ready as Raymond Ashwell out–jumps Amherst opponent and Liberty gains control of the ball.

Five Lettermen Return to Pace

The Cave Spring Knights padded their district lead by bombing the Minutemen 68–45.

The Amherst County Lancers, leading team in District two, Group Four, stunned the Liberty team with a 79–69 score.

The Minutemen were defeated by Northside 94–83, but the following night toppled Covington 80–71, as Mike Coleman fired in his 1,000th point.

The Minutemen had another district win as they defeated William Byrd 69–65, but they suffered defeat at the hands of Amherst in their next game.

The following week the Lord Botetourt Cavaliers surprised the team with a 79–78 score, but in the next game Liberty out–scored district member Glenvar 84–63.

Pennant winner of the district, Cave Spring, again over–whelmed Liberty 73–59.

The Minutemen won the second meeting with their county rivals by scoring 72 points to Staunton River's 59.

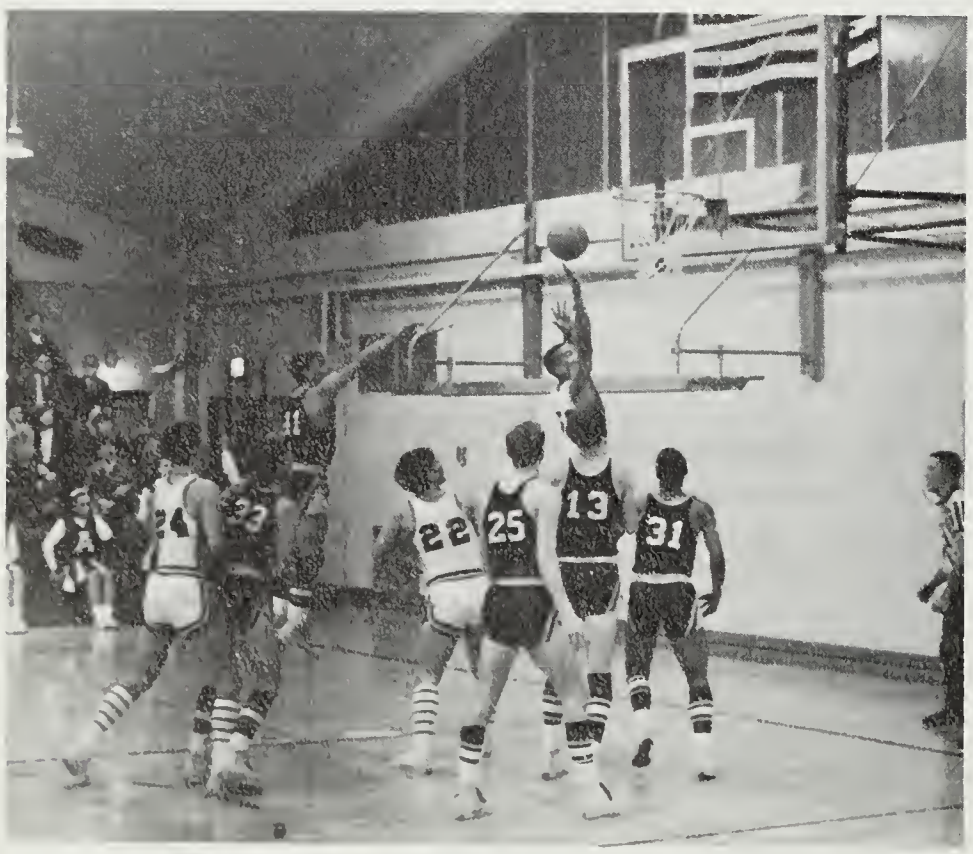

Liberty lost its last game with Northside 83–64.

The Minutemen made an outstanding showing in the Blue Ridge District Tournament. Liberty bombed William Byrd, 79–66 to set up the thrilling semifinal match with Northside.

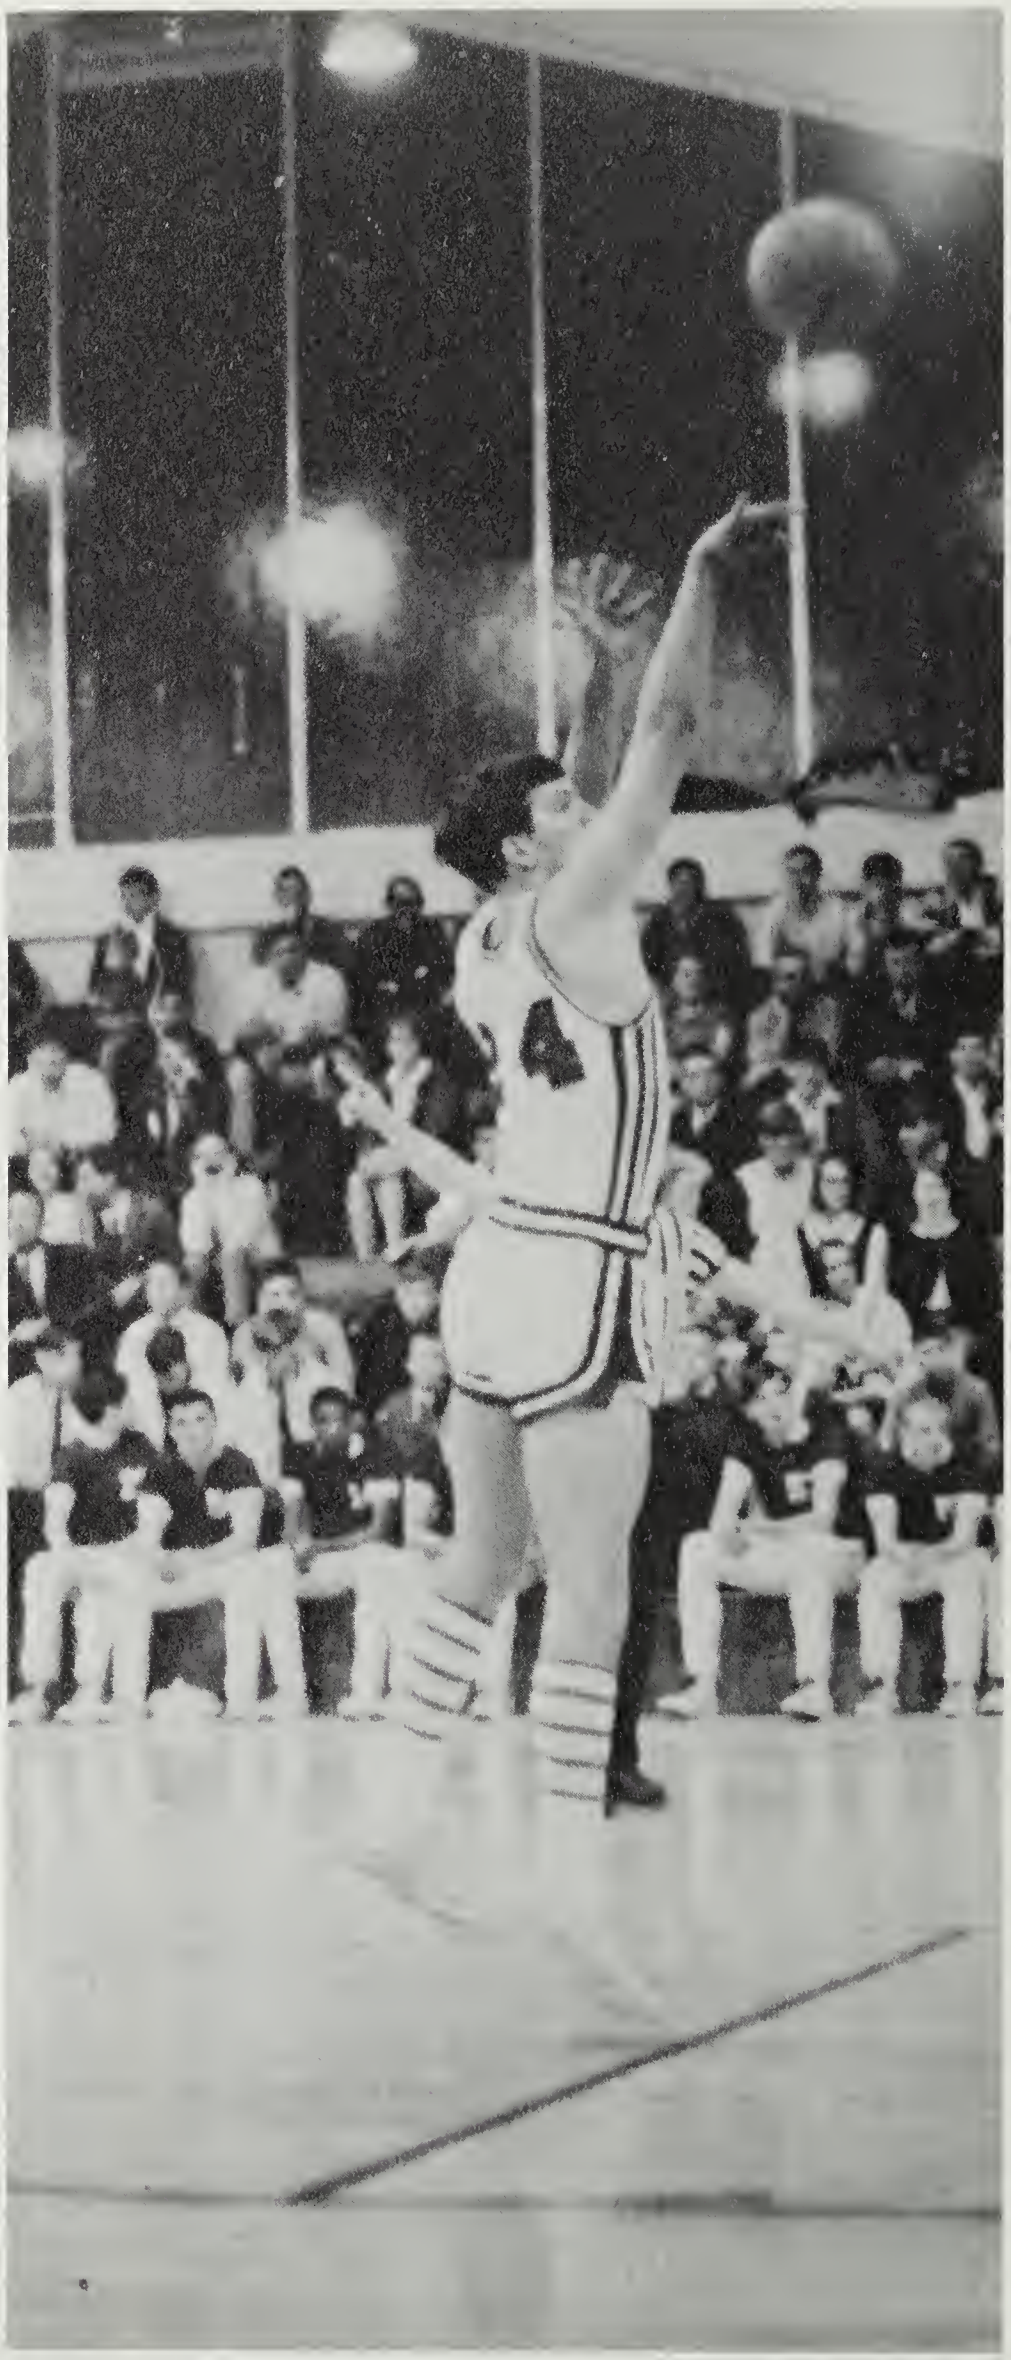

A great team effort carried the boys to a close 64–62 victory over Northside and sent them into the finals of the District Championship. This marked the first time a Liberty team had advanced to the finals.

In the Championship game, the Cave Spring Knights proved to be the district's best as they pulled away in the second half for a 70–46 victory. The Minutemen trailed 29–27 at halftime but saw the taller, stronger Knights gradually increase the margin of victory.

The strong second place finish capped an outstanding rebuilding year for the Minutemen who were picked to finish sixth in the Blue Ridge District.

The Minettes, led by co–captains Diane Tomlin and Galen Wilson and coaches Mrs. Shirley McCabe and Miss Martha Chilton, had a very successful season. Again playing in the Roanoke League, the girls fought to better their third place standing of last year.

Three returning starters and six other lettermen along with six new and inexperienced players made up the team. The excellent defensive teamwork held the opponents to low scoring games throughout the season. Also, the teammates cooperativeness in learning the basic skills, showed great promise for future teams.

The girls ended their season with eight wins and only three defeats.

The Junior Minutemen started the season under their new coach Mr. David Miller with enthusiasm and a great desire to learn. Early season practices were devoted to the teaching of fundamentals and game strategy.

Hard work on the practice floor started paying off in mid-season games. The team progressed above the expectations of the coaching staff and should prove to be a big asset to future varsity teams.

The Junior Varsity had no individual stars but made up for this with good team balance. Coach Miller rotated his line–up each game which enabled more boys to gain experience.

This year Liberty fielded its first Freshman Basketball team under the direction of Mr. Robert Cox. The greatest accomplishment of the ninth grade team was to boost the overall strength of the basketball program. Coach Cox sent his twenty–five man squad through long and hard practice sessions in anticipation of developing future talent for the Junior Varsity. The season's record indicated the hard work and devotions of these boys.

The Liberty Eighth Graders were coached by Mr. Steve Rich and Mr. Patrick Sherman. The team played a full Blue Ridge schedule which proved to be very tough on the won–lost record. The 1967–68 Eighth graders showed a great deal of potential and held the key to the basketball fortunes of the next four years.

8TH GRADE BASKETBALL . . . First Row: S. Brown, J. Wright, J. Craig, J. Newman, M. Musgrove, R. Whorley, R. Overstreet, J. Mills. Second Row: J. Jennings, H. Snowden, T. Padgett, R. Cofer, M. VARSITY BASKETBALL CHEERLEADERS . . . First Row: Martha Stevens, Janice Cundiff, Kathy Stevens. Second Row: Karen Zimmerman Assistant head, Dinx Jones Head. Third Row: Barbara Paxton, Nan Darden, Diane Dillon, Dana Newman, Sherry Massie, Joan Leftwich, Kaye Kendall.

Cheerleaders Inspire School Support

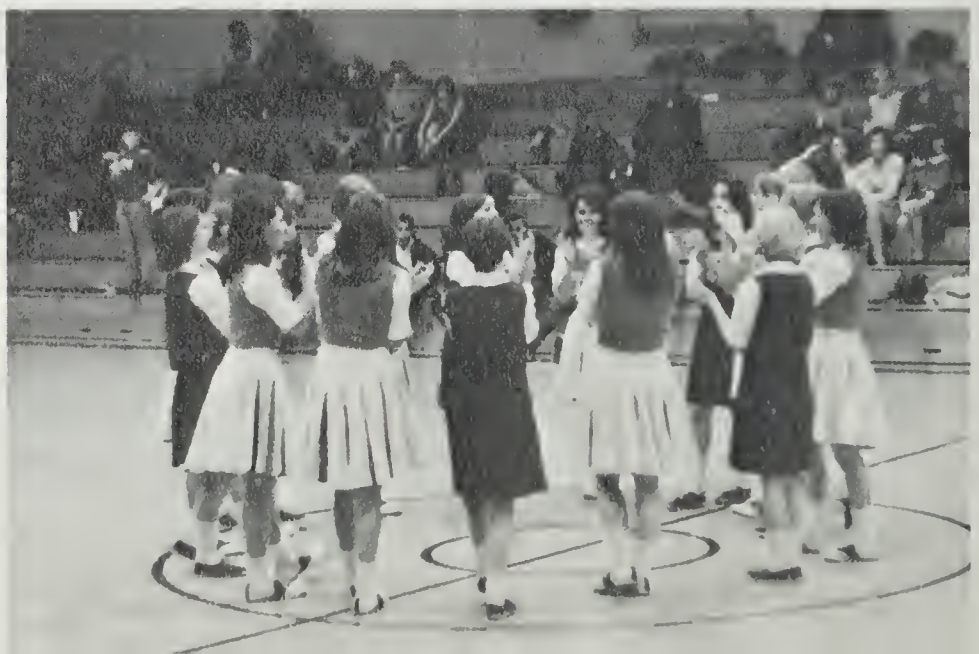

ALL FOR LIBERTY . . . Kathy Stevens, Joan Leftwich, Dana Newman and Dinx Jones arouse spectators by doing a cheer at the Northside game.

The varsity basketball cheerleaders, in an attempt to raise both school and team spirit, used several new approaches. The girls sold booster ribbons (the week before a home game) printed with a slogan in the colors of the opposing team. On the day of the Cave Spring game, the cheerleaders presented a mock basketball game in which the girls themselves portrayed the players. The squad also prepared favors to be given to the team the day before a game, a new method of giving the boys their support.

Guided by head cheerleader Dinx Jones and assistant-head Karen Zimmerman, the squad improved in style and expression as the season progressed. Mrs. Mayhew, sponsor, provided the girls with helpful advice and criticism.

In addition to their other activities, the cheerleaders participated in the annual Bedford Christmas parade and cheered at the district tournaments held during the last of February.

THEY ALL GOT TOGETHER . . . LHS and Covington cheerleaders make a friendship circle to get acquainted during halftime activities.

GIVE 'EM A YELL . . . J.V. Cheerleaders lead cheers during a pep rally before the Amherst game.

The J.V. Cheerleading Squad, composed of freshman girls, showed great interest in the JV team of LHS. With the help of pep rallies, bulletin boards, posters, the selling of pennants and ribbons and LHS buttons, the spirit and enthusiasm of the student body reached a new height.

Led by head cheerleader Barbara Daniels, assistant-head Brenda Massie, and Mrs. Nancy Mayhew, sponsor, the cheerleaders displayed improvement in their cheering.

JV Cheerleaders Highlight Jr. High Games

Minutemen Fight to Win District Title

BOY, WHAT A GAME . . . Jimmy Turpin and Raymond Ashwell return to the locker room after a tough game.

NOW THIS IS HOW YOU DO IT . . . Howie Fine demonstrates his follow through of pitching to Donnie Sale, Perry Newman, and Robert Ashwell in a warm–up session.

Losing only three starting players, the Liberty High baseball team returned as a power–packed team in both offense and defense. To lead the "big nine" were tri–captains Robert Ashwell, Harrell Parker, and Frank Bush.

A pre–season clinic of weight–lifting, isometrics, and exercises was conducted for the team. The basic purpose of this program was to get the boys in shape before official practice opened on March 1.

The team excelled in hitting and especially in defense. The pitching staff, consisting of Robert Ashwell, 1967 all–Blue Ridge District team member, Jimmy Trevey, Lee Holofchak, and Howie Fine, held the opponents to a minimum of scores. Under head coach Jim Cutler, the Minutemen proved to be one of the best in the Blue Ridge District.

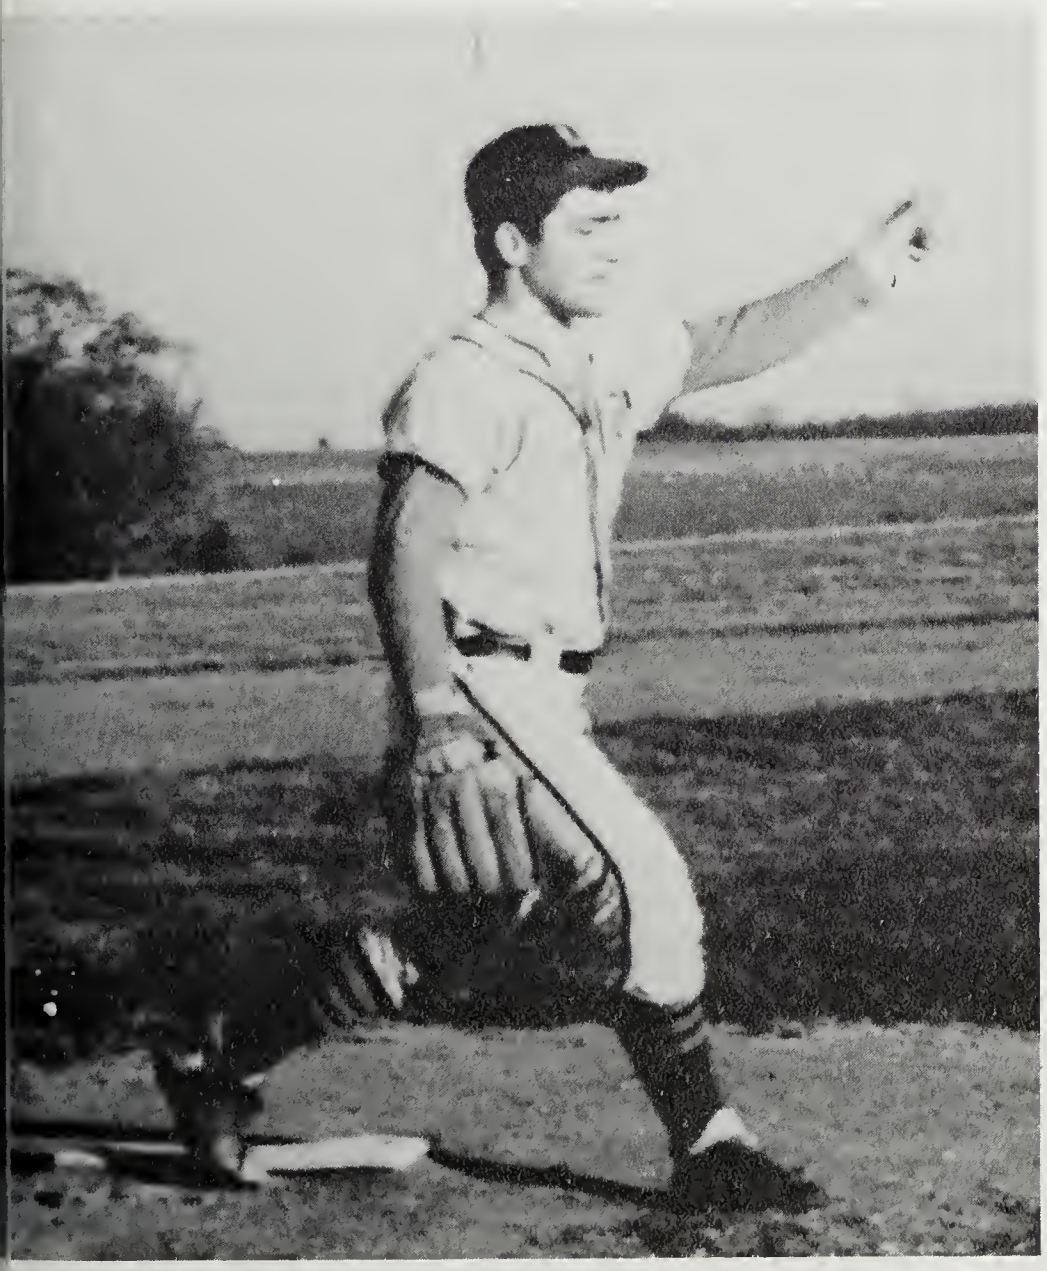

STRETCH . . . Jimmy Trevey displays good form in hurling the ball to home plate.

J.V.'s Master Fundamentals

IT'S ALL IN THE WRIST . . . Coach Steve Rich explains the proper method of swinging a bat to Jimmy Orange as Junior Litten observes.

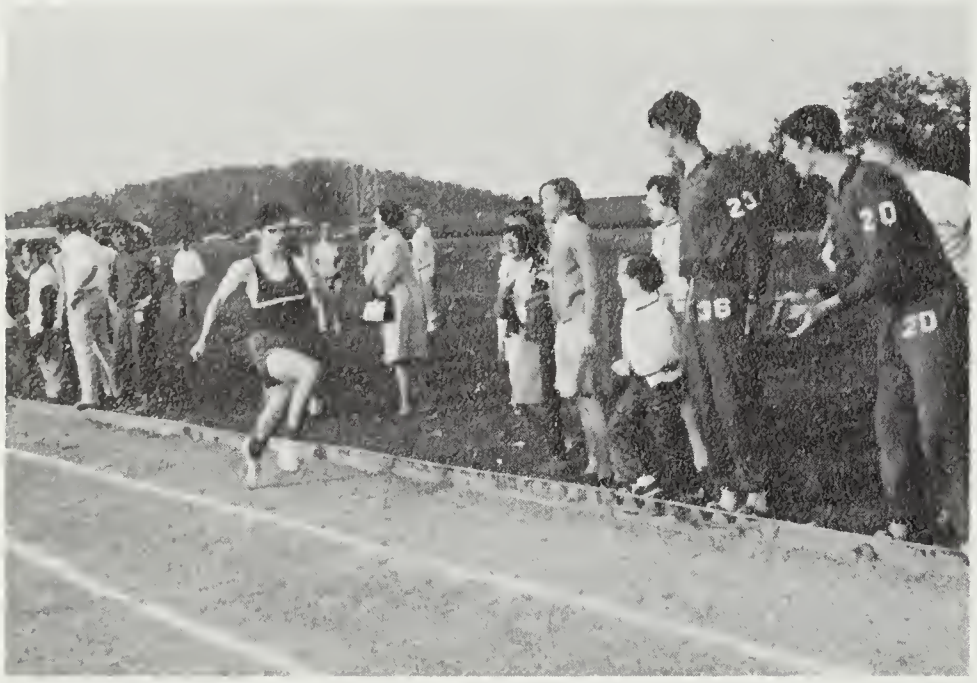

UP, DOWN, UP, DOWN . . . Jimmy Orange and Junior Litten do extra push–ups as part of Coach Rich's training program.

While depending upon the experience of its returning lettermen, the J.V. baseball team trained its new members to take over leading positions with confidence.

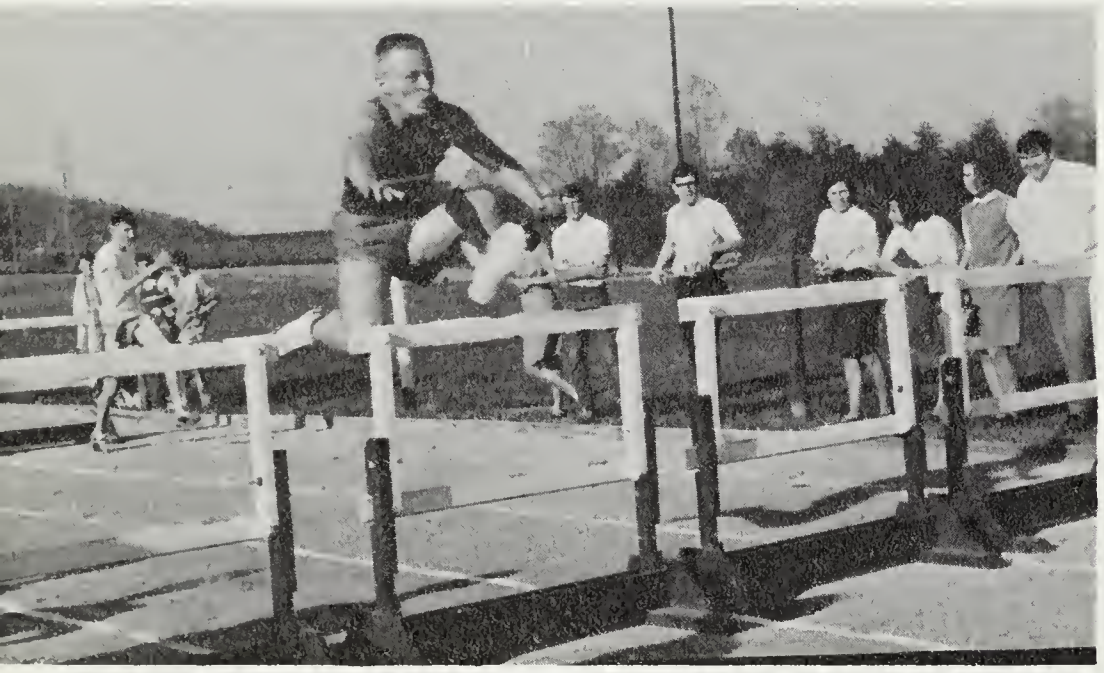

Rigorous practice, beginning in early March, improved batting and fielding techniques and developed speed and smoothness. Many of the boys took advantage of the weight lifting program sponsored by the LHS coaches.

Liberty Trackmen Gain Prestige

GO, KERRY, GO! . . . Kerry Hudnall sprints his hardest in an important leg of an 880 relay race.

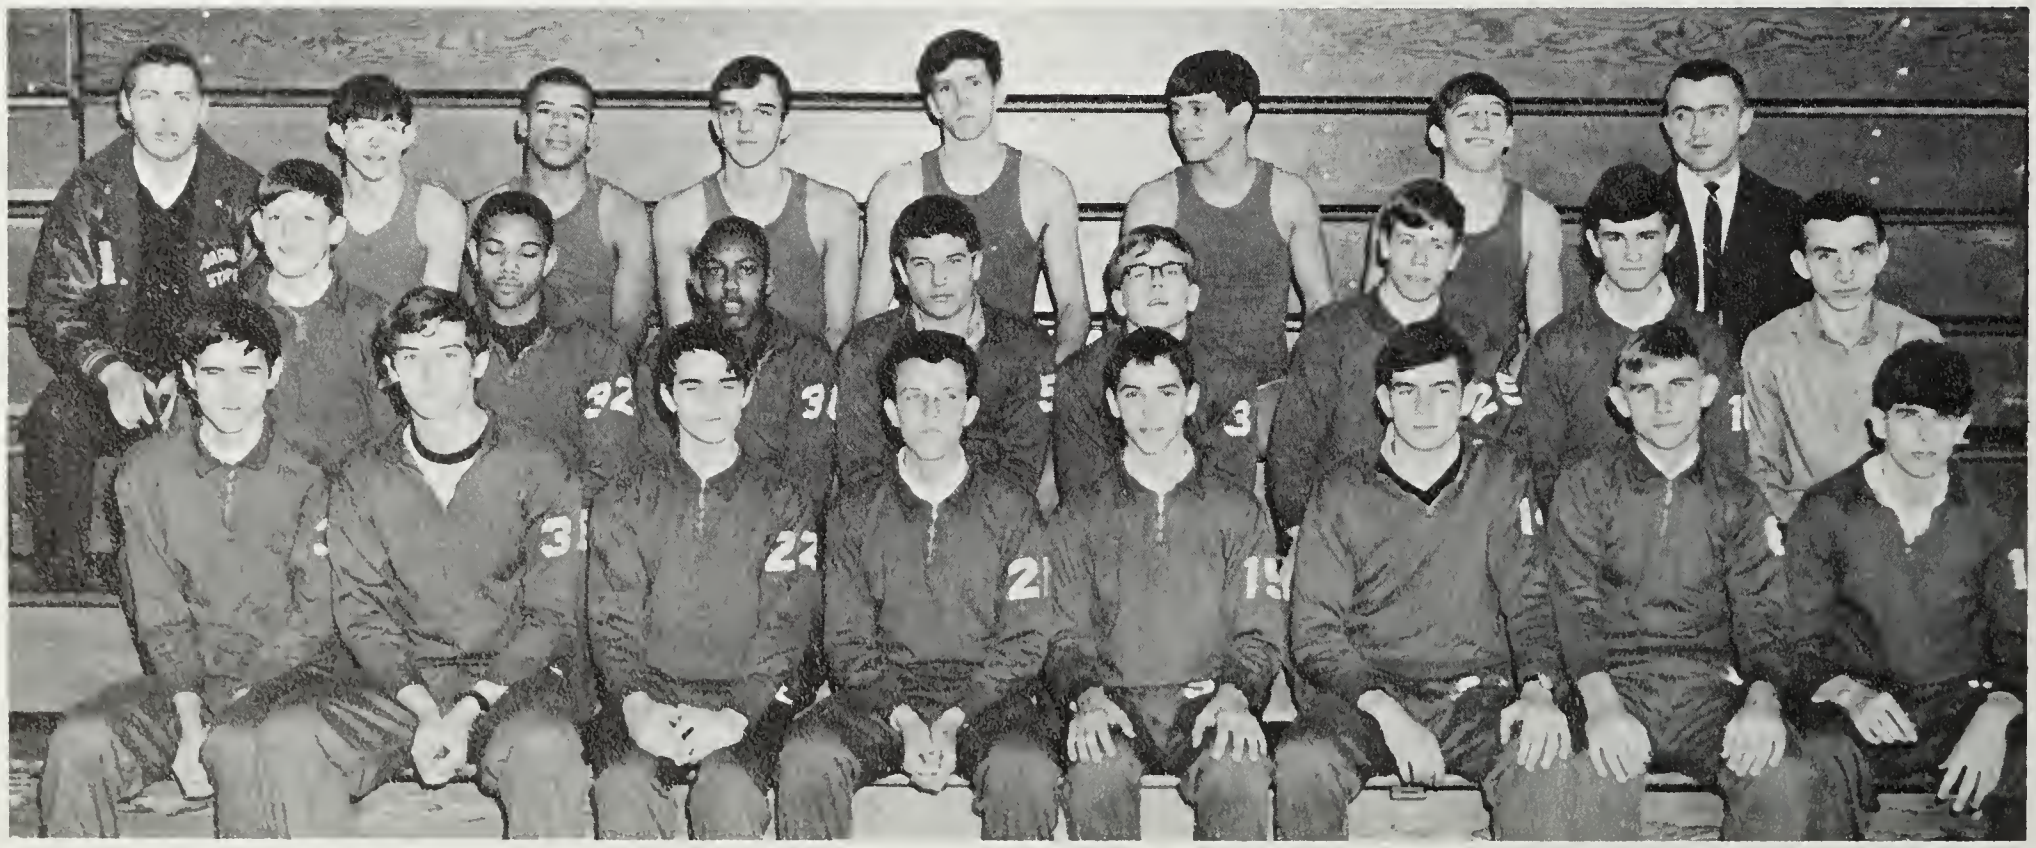

I MADE IT . . . Richard Latimer races to the finish line in the high hurdle competition.

VARSITY AND JUNIOR VARSITY TRACK TEAM . . . First Row: C. Pinion, R. Falls, K. Hudnall, J. Owen, J. Lyle, B. Powers, D. Hunter, T. Fleshman. Second Row: B. Turpin, O Anderson, L. Campbell,, J. UP, UP, AND OVER . . . Charles Strode, one of the district's best, clears the bar again in the pole vault.

OVER, GREGG . . . Clearing a low hurdle, Gregg Bailey advances forward.

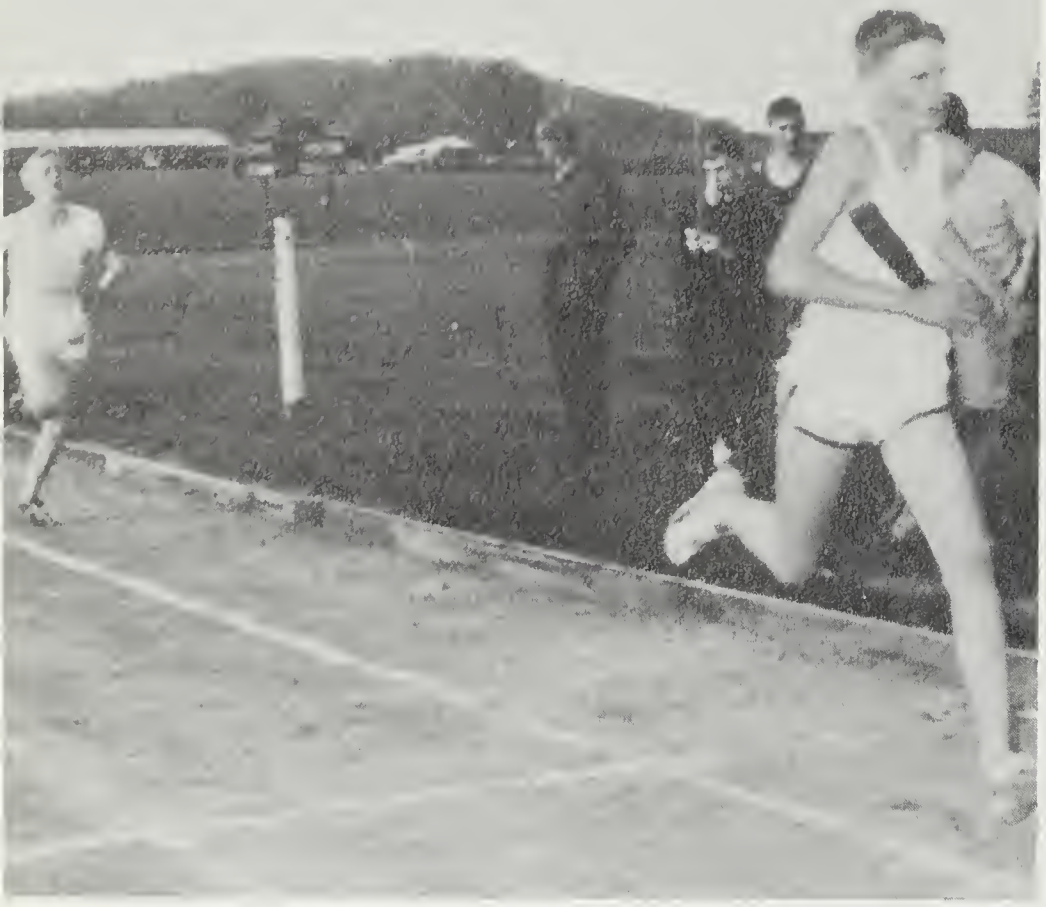

THROW YOUR SHOT . . . Exerting a maximum of strength, Marvin Mills puts the shot to place in district competition.

DON'T SCRATCH, WAYNE . . . Wayne Bailey hits the board to show his form in the broad jump.

The Liberty High track team, under the direction of coaches Bob Worrell and Patrick Sherman, faced hard competition from opponents but had a successful season. Carefully planned and organized practices emphasized the team's weakest points. Participation on the squad offered many opportunities for the members to demonstrate their skill and performance in various individual events.

New members and returning lettermen made up the Minuteman team. With the experience of the old members and the eagerness of the new, the team showed great promise for the future.

TIRED BROWNIE? . . . Brownie May keeps a steady pace throughout the 440 yard dash.

Several Members Vie in State Meet

F–L–I–N–G . . . Rocky Falls hurls the discus in an attempt to gain points for his team.

ALL BUT A LEG . . . Richard Latimer performs effectively in the high jump.

"HIGH" HURDLES IS RIGHT . . . Mike Coleman takes the last high hurdle in good stride.

BOTTOMS UP . . . Charles Strode displays excellent form in securing points with a high jumping victory.

NECK AND NECK . . . Larry Bandy battles for first place with an opponent in the 880 relay.

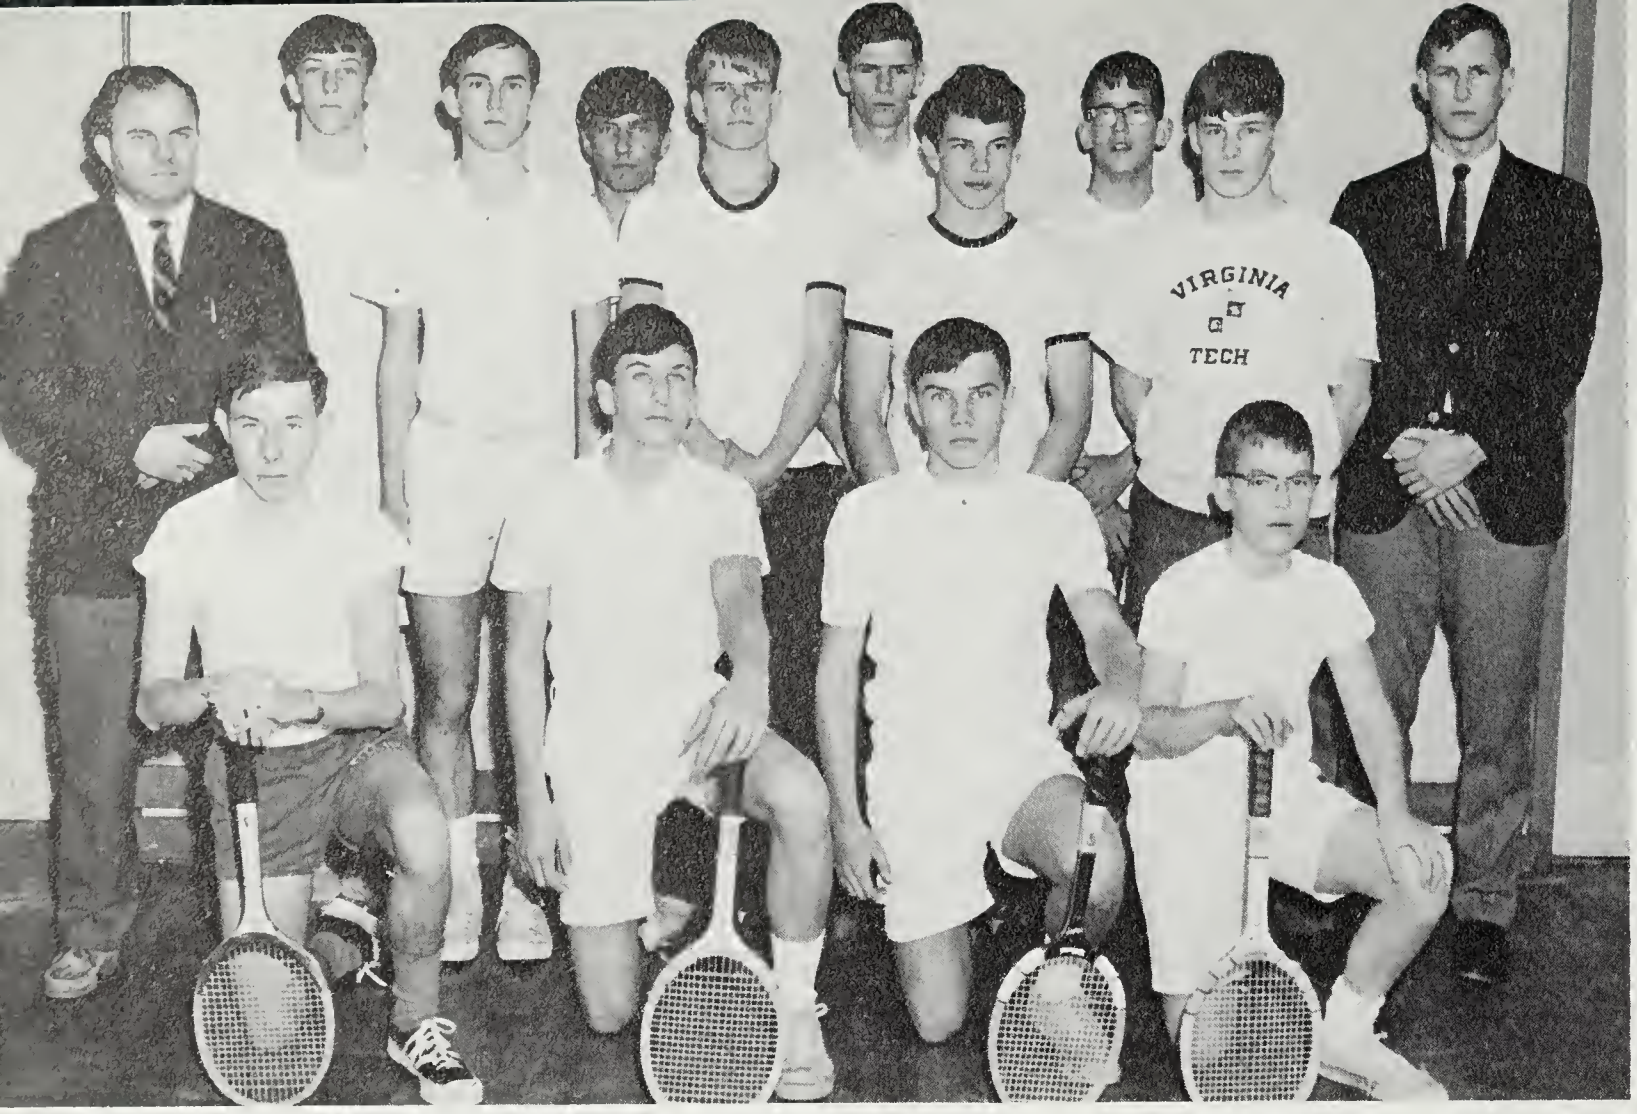

J.V.'s Compete with Varsity

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT . . . Rocky Falls makes a practice run on the high hurdles in preparation for a future meet.

DON'T HIT THAT BAR . . . Wayne Bailey successfully clears the bar in pole vault competition.

The tennis team, coached by Mr. Clarence Mathews and Mr. Don Brown, began the season with only two lettermen, Mike Huddleston and Glenn Gray. These two boys plus twelve new members comprised the Liberty squad.

The 1968 schedule consisted of six matches, all being played away. The season began in April and continued through the middle of May.

With regular practice beginning the first week in March and building up during the season, the team became an organized unit, providing skill for future teams at LHS.

NOW, I JUST CAN'T DUB THIS ONE . . . Graham Mackey ponders his next drive as he and Frank Thomasson await their turns on the tee.

The Liberty golf team, undefeated in local matches the past two years, tried for another perfect record this season. Coach Don Meredith started practice after basketball season, with eight matches comprising the 1968 schedule. Returning, David Howard, Barney Dean, Frank Thomasson, and Johnny Owen, along with new members competed in the state tournament in Winchester. The team's main goal was to better last season's third place finish.

DID YOU SEE THE FISHING RODS THEY HAD? . . . Eugene Waldron and Jan Cundiff discuss some of the sporting goods found in S. O. Fisher.

LET'S EAT . . . Donna Hogan and Betty Orange grab a quick snack after school.

The increased financial support of local businesses made possible an enlargement of the HERITAGE this year. These contributions were an example of the amiable relationship between the community and school.

CONGRATULATIONS

to the new graduates

As parents, neighbors, and friends we naturally have a special interest in the quality of our schools.

No community is better than its schools, and no school is better than the determination and willingness of a community to support standards high enough and broad enough to meet tomorrow's levels of need, both vocationally and for citizenship.

Build a Better Mousetrap

. . . and the world will make a beaten path to your door.

It happens all the time in our country. People with imagination and ambition can expect to be rewarded. Each of us has the opportunity to fulfill our dreams . . . to get ahead by building a better mousetrap.

In America profit and honor are rewards to those who make significant contributions to our way of life. This is because we believe in Free Enterprise, the economic system that has given us the highest standard of living in the world today.

Climb ev'ry mountain, search high and low,
Follow ev'ry by-way, ev'ry path you know.
Climb ev'ry mountain, ford ev'ry stream,
Follow ev'ry rainbow, till you find your dream!
A dream that will need, all the love you can give,
Ev'ry day of your life, for as long as you live.
Climb ev'ry mountain, ford ev'ry stream,
Follow ev'ry rainbow, till you find your dream!
